SEVENTEEN VICTIMS IN SLEEP OF DEATH!

MERRIAM WINS SPEAKERSHIP ELECTION

Isaac Jones, Put Up by Anti-Administration Force, Meets With Defeat

BULLETIN

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 5.—Senator A. H. Breed, of Piedmont, was chosen president pro tem of the Senate when that body organized today, defeating Senator Herbert C. Jones, anti-administration man. The vote was Breed, 29; Jones, 10. Senator L. L. Dennett, Modesto, was absent.

BULLETIN

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 5.—Assemblyman Frank I. Merriam of Long Beach was re-elected speaker of the Assembly today over Isaac Jones of San Bernardino, the compromise candidate nominated by the progressives. The vote was Merriam, 40; Jones, 39, with one member absent. The re-election of Merriam is a victory for Governor Richardson and his supporters.

Special to The Evening News.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 5—A test of the Richardson administration strength in the election of Assembly speaker and president pro tempore of the Senate will provide the opening clash of organized forces in the forty-sixth biennial session of the California Legislature here today.

With the announcement by Albert A. Rosenshine of San Francisco that he would not be a candidate for the speakership of the Assembly and with the further announcement that his supporters would throw their strength to Isaac Jones of Ontario, administration forces declare that the re-election of Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach as speaker of the Assembly is certain.

The writer predicts the re-election of Merriam, with the vote exceedingly close. Perhaps a single vote will spell victory.

New alignments are apparent in the House as a result of the November election with the governor better fortified in his stand for efficiency and economy although the progressive group has the satisfaction of a stronger personnel that is in position to command more attention and conciliation of conflicting interests, than was to be had two years ago in the battle royal.

Changes In Lineup

Southern California's delegation has some new faces including A. C. Finney, Brawley rancher, and A. E. Brock, Redlands assemblyman; Harry Sewell, Whittier lawyer; S. C. Hartranft, Fullerton and owner, and five new members from Los Angeles districts, including Thomas L. Dodge, William M. Byrne, Jerome V. Scofield, Howard W. Davis and Mark A. Pierce. In the senate Chester Kline, former assemblyman from San Jacinto, and Cadet Taylor, well known Pomona Republican leader, gave the southern counties different color, while Joseph Pedrotti, Los Angeles assemblyman, is promoted to the Upper House, and Herbert J. Evans of Monrovia succeeds Dwight Hart.

Reapportionment presents itself again as one of the problems with which the Legislature will have to wrestle, the demand for representation in accordance with the constitution being heard from many sections. Several novel plans for settling this moot question are being advanced in the way of constitutional amendments.

Offer Suggestions

The agrarian interests represented by the "cow county" solons favors a division of the Senate by counties and the Senate apportioned in accord with population. Another suggestion, which Senator H. V. Lewis of Los Angeles states he will sponsor, is mandatory appointment of a reapportionment committee every ten years following the federal census to relieve the legislature of the monotonous fights which occur with the shifting centers of population.

A heavy grist of bills is expected, many calling for appropriations for highways, pest control, reforestation and state buildings, not to forget the demands for new institutional facilities. Fullerton is in the field for the University of California Southern Branch site and beautifully illus-

Judge M'Kenna Retires From Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Judge Joseph McKenna retired today from the United States supreme court after more than a quarter of a century of service as an associate justice.

The retirement of the veteran jurist—McKenna was 81 years old last August—was announced to the court this afternoon by Chief Justice Taft, who read a letter of regret and appreciation from his colleagues.

McKenna responded briefly and then left the bench, walking slowly into an anteroom to remove his black judicial robes for the last time.

Among those mentioned for appointment to the court is Curtis D. Wilbur, present secretary of the navy. Wilbur was chief justice of the California supreme court when President Coolidge drafted him for service in the cabinet.

O'CONNELL BARRED FROM BASKETBALL

Former Giant Player Can't Join Same Team With Other Ball Stars

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—John A. Heydler, president of the National league, said this afternoon that if verification was made of the report that George Kelly, Sam Bohne and other organized baseball players planned to play on the same basketball team with the disbarred Jimmy O'Connell, their automatic suspension from baseball should follow.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Jimmy O'Connell was today barred from playing basketball in the California Professional Basketball association by President Daniel P. Maher.

"President Heydler of the National league need have no concern over O'Connell appearing with or against other baseball stars in this league, as I have the personal assurance of the management of the Adam and Eve club that O'Connell will not participate," Maher said. "All professional ballplayers in the league will be protected."

Maher took action after Heydler had declared automatic suspension would follow if National league players participated in games in which the barred Giant player took partr.

This announcement was made by the management of the five today, simultaneously with the statement that the rest of the team would include Sammy Bohne, Cincinnati shortstop; Jimmie ("Imp") Begley, also of the Reds; "Wee" Rudolph, former Detroit American player and now pitching for Vernon, of the Coast league; Bert Cole, former Detroit pitcher, and now with Vernon, and Ren Kelly, brother of George.

Mine Workers Select Successor to Green

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 5.—Thomas Kennedy, 40, of Hazelton, Pa., president of district No. 7, United Mine Workers of America, was selected as secretary-treasurer today by the miners' executive committee to succeed William Green, who became president of the American Federation of Labor.

High Tribute Paid Farmer By President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—"A generation of farmers trained in co-operation" will provide the agricultural salvation of the nation, President Coolidge said today in an address to the national conference on agricultural marketing co-operation.

The president lauded the principle of co-operation marketing as one of the soundest proposals advanced for the aid of the American farmer, but coupled with it a warning that even co-operative marketing would not prove a cure-all for alleviating agricultural distress.

U. S. NOTE IS CONSIDERED BY BRITISH

Expect Definite Statement On Policy to Be Made By Cabinet Today

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—France's much heralded "proposition" for the funding of her $4,000,000,000 war debt to the United States was officially revealed today as only an empty gesture, which, for the present, does not afford suitable basis on which serious funding negotiations can be begun.

The communication which Ambassador Herrick forwarded to the state department over the week-end was not addressed to the American government, nor did it come from the French government, but was a "personal memorandum" from Finance Minister Clementel, which contained no definite or concrete suggestions for payment.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The British cabinet took under consideration today America's note, which, it is understood, states frankly that the United States has a "legal right" for payment of its war claims through the Dawes reparations plan.

The note was received by the foreign office today and sent immediately to the cabinet. The American note was a reply to the British note of last Wednesday.

Out of the cabinet meeting was expected to come a definite statement of policy, not only on America's war claim, but also on the Franco-American debt and war debts in general.

Final Instructions

The specific purpose of the cabinet meeting, it was announced, is to give Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill final instructions governing his appearance at the allied financial conference in Paris this week.

Britain will not, it was said, accept the terms which France has made in informal memoranda to the United States for payment of the Franco-American debt. These terms specify a ten-year moratorium and eighty years to discharge the debt.

It appears likely, diplomats concede, that the financial conference in Paris will break down. An effort then will be made by Great Britain to bring about an inter-allied debt conference, diplomats heard. This conference would take up the question of the participation of the United States in the reparations payments.

Plan Community Sings Each Week In Glendale

Weekly community sings will be undertaken by Community Service during the next two months, it was decided at the meeting of directors at the Egyptian Village cafe today at noon. Two sings each month will be held at the Broadway High school. On alternate weeks they will take place at other school buildings throughout different parts of the city. J. Arthur Myers will lead the sings.

A special committee to be appointed later will lay plans for social recreation in Glendale. The idea of monthly dancing parties under the auspices of community service and other forms of social entertainment will be worked out by this committee. More social recreation was advocated by Richardson D. White.

Work among boys from 10 to 12 years of age who are not eligible to join Boy Scout troops and likewise among young men who have finished school and are ready to go into business was urged by President George J. Lyons. It was decided to hold regular meetings of the executive board of community service on the first Tuesday of each month. Mr. Lyons presided at the meeting today.

Berlin Banker Ends Life as Bank Closed

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—Leopold Fiedlander, 74-year-old banker, committed suicide today with poison. Friedlander's bank was closed recently by the prosecutor in connection with the sensational Barmat bank scandal, which involved high Prussian officials.

Trotzky Suffering From Stomach Ulcer; Death May Come Any Moment

Widely conflicting reports of the condition of Leon Trotsky, Soviet commissar for war, and the differences between him and President Zinoviev of the executive committee of the Communist interest internationale, have filtered through the Soviet censorship. This authoritative report was written especially for International News Service by Isaac Don Levine, author and world traveler, who recently returned from Russia.

By ISAAC DON LEVINE
Copyright 1925, by International News Service

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—Direct news I have just received enables me to state that Leon Trotzky, Soviet war commissar, is actually sick. It can be stated on the authority of the president of one of the Caucasian republics that Trotzky is suffering from ulcer of the stomach and may die much sooner than is expected generally.

He is not a prisoner in the Kremlin as has been reported, but is actually in a sanitarium in Sukhum Kale, on the Black sea, about seventy kilometers from Batum. The campaign against him is altogether "literary." The Communist press daily spouts whole pages of abuse for him. However, this campaign has produced an unprecedented enthusiasm for him among the people. Trotzky at present unquestionably has the masses behind him.

CONGRESS TO AIR GUNS ELEVATION

Foreign Nations' Protests To Battleship Changes Set to Date

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The protests of foreign nations against the elevation of guns on American battleships will be publicly aired before Congress, it was announced in the Senate this afternoon by Senator Hale, Republican, Maine, chairman of the Senate naval affairs committee.

Hale declared Secretary of State Hughes, in response to repeated requests, would file with Congress a complete report on the alleged protests within the next 24 fours. Hale's statement was provoked by the introduction of a resolution by Senator Gerry, Democrat of Rhode Island, demanding that Secretary Hughes make public all correspondence relating to the protests.

Tuesday Club Members Consider Future Plans

Plans for the early part of the new year were made today at the meeting of the advisory council of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the clubhouse. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, reported all officers, chairmen and curators present. Building up of the various departments was discussed, and all club members were urged to participate in the activities of one or more of the departments. A "Husbands' Night" will be held Monday night, February 2, with a program and refreshments.

Mrs. W. F. Macpherson will be hostess Friday night, January 16, at a card party at the clubhouse for the benefit of the Redwood Memorial Grove Fund. Other events on the club calendar are the benefit performance of the Dobinson Players, Friday, January 9; the benefit card party Thursday afternoon, at the clubhouse, Mrs. C. E. Norton, hostess, and the dance January 26, under the auspices of the maids and young matrons, with dancing instruction beginning at 8 o'clock, under Mr. and Mrs. Jules Swart, and dancing at 8:30 o'clock.

Charges Cruelty In Shipment of Monkeys

BOMBAY, Jan. 5.—Public protests today were directed against cruel and inhuman treatment of monkeys shipped by the hundreds to Europe by agents of rejuvenation and surgeons for gland operations. The animals are herded into cages with little provision for the trip, it was charged.

LEWIS ADJUDGED BANKRUPT IN L. A.

Petition Filed by Creditors Gives His Liabilities as $9,000,000

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—E. G. Lewis, widely known promoter of Southern California and formerly a St. Louis publisher, was adjudged a bankrupt today by Federal Judge William James. The action was taken by the court after Carl Belmont and four other of Lewis' creditors filed a petition of involuntary bankruptcy against Lewis.

According to the petitioners Lewis owed them $9,236.50. The petition sets forth Lewis obtained $23,249.50 by his manipulations, carried liabilities of $9,314,240.50 and had assets of $1,000,000.

Lewis admitted, it was said, he owed in excess of $500,000 and had $1,000,000, with which, the petition stated, he would be unable to pay the $9,314,240.50 debt. Lewis, in an answer filed to the petition, made no denial of the debt to the claimants and said he was unable to pay his debts.

Wife of Congressman Continues Testimony

ALPENA, Mich., Jan. 5.—The names of Jane Kennedy and Harry Wyckoff, "other man" named by Congressman Frank D. Scott in his divorce suit, were linked today by Mrs. Edna James Scott when she resumed her testimony. Miss Kennedy, Scott's secretary and star witness for him, was attracted by Wyckoff's "good looks" and asked to meet him, Mrs. Scott testified. She added she introduced them.

Senate Night Session To Break Jam In Work

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The administration's first big drive to end the legislative jam that has tied up Congress since it convened last December, was launched this afternoon with the ordering of a night session of the Senate.

By unanimous consent the Senate will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock to consider the $238,000,000 interior department appropriation bill.

ITALY FACING CRISIS IN FASCISTI

Expect Clash Between Rival Factions; Mussolini Is Making Last Stand

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Private advices from Italy today said that the internal situation there was extremely serious, with both Fascist and anti-Fascists in the smaller towns aroused to a high pitch.

Conflicts are likely to break out at any moment and the police do not know what course to follow, these advices said. Large numbers of police stood by and watched the Fascisti wreck the Nuevo Giornale, a newspaper of Florence, fearing to take a stand against the mob.

It is reported Mussolini plans to create a directory of three—himself and two generals—and impose martial law as a means of bringing order to Italy, but this is believed unlikely, at least at present.

There were evidences in London today that the heavy censorship in Italy is being maintained, if not tightened. News of the troubles there is subjected to long delays in transmission.

Believe Mussolini Is Making Last Stand

ROME, Jan. 5.—Premier Benito Mussolini today stood in the position of a man who has staked all on one throw of the dice.

With a strong show of Fascist force and a continued campaign of suppression and confiscation of the opposition press, he was attempting "to clear the situation in forty-eight hors," as he promised, using the identical methods which swept Fascism into power in 1922.

To his friends, to the Fascist press, and to independent newspapers, his action was the only alternative of a great leader who had done his best to conciliate his

Workmen Crews Rush Verdugo Wash Repairs

Several crews under James W. Reagan, chief engineer of the Los Angeles county flood control district, are at work repairing the channel of the Verdugo wash, reports Virgil B. Stone, Glendale City manager, through whose efforts the work is being done. The money thus being spent by the county for the benefit of Glendale comes out of the maintenance fund of the flood control district, Mr. Stone stated.

One crew is replacing brush along the wash, where it has been washed out or burned away; another is replacing piling and putting in fresh lumber where needed; and a third crew is engaged in grading out the channel, eliminating high places and removing obstructions. This work will continue until the Verdugo hills flood control channel has been restored to maximum efficiency, in preparation for the coming rains, Mr. Stone states.

Committeemen Guests At Weekly Luncheon

Irene Castle Now Starring In New Role

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—"It's a girl. Both getting along nicely." This was the word today from the Michael Reese hospital here where Mrs. Frederick McLaughlin, formerly Irene Castle, of dancing fame, is starring in a new role.

Her daughter, who it is said will be named for the mother, weighed seven pounds. It is Mrs. McLaughlin's first child although she has been married three times, first to Vernon Castle, dancer and British aviation ace killed in Texas while instructing American flyers, and then to Captain Robert Tremain whom she divorced in Paris. She married McLaughlin Thanksgiving eve, 1923.

MRS. ROSS TAKES UP GOVERNORSHIP

Inaugural Ceremonies Are Marked by Simplicity at Cheyenne, Wyo.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 5.—American womanhood's capacity to grasp the details of governmental matters and direct the affairs of a sovereign state went on trial at noon today when Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross was inaugurated as chief executive of the state of Wyoming in a ceremony marked by its extreme simplicity.

The woman governor will encounter extraordinary responsibilities, Mrs. Ross being the first woman to occupy so responsible a position. Her acts will be more closely scrutinized, more searchingly analyzed, more generally criticized than those of any governor who has served before her. Wyoming people generally believe that she will measure up to the test.

Among those present at the ceremony were Samuel G. Tayloe of San Antonio, Texas, a brother; Mrs. George Thompson of Memphis, Tenn., sister-in-law; J. S. Ross of Oklahoma City, brother-in-law, and two of her sons, George and Bradford.

Ask City Mark Lanes For Parking of Cars

City officials will be asked to mark designated lanes for parking automobiles on Brand boulevard, following action taken by the members of the Glendale Merchants' association at a meeting held today noon at the Egyptian Village cafe. C. J. Hatz, president, presided at the meeting. The motion asking for parking markings was made by Dan Kelty.

George Lyons addressed the members of the association in regard to the football banquet to be given tomorrow night by the Chamber of Commerce for the members of Glendale's three high school football teams.

DEADLY FUMES CONTINUE TO TAKE TOLL IN L. A.

One Dies on Sunday and Another Today; Issue Warning to Public

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5. — Struck down by the deadly fumes of carbon monoxide generated by a small gas heater, the body of W. H. Neal, a gardener, was found in his home today, the seventeenth victim to succumb to the dread "sleep of death" in Los Angeles during the winter season.

On Sunday, the sixteenth victim was Hugo Wetzel, 65, retired rancher, residing at a hotel at 236 East Second street. His body was found in a gas-filled room by hotel attendants.

Careful study of the subject by physicians, gas engineers, mining experts and others has resulted in much knowledge concerning the perils of the deadly monoxide gas. It is generally agreed that practically 98 per cent of the fatalities from this cause could be avoided by a few simple precautions. Their warnings may be briefly summed up as follows:

Users of all types of gas-heating appliances should:

1—Always keep at least one window open three or four inches at the top and bottom, regardless of weather conditions.

2—The stove should be kept absolutely clean and free from dirt.

3—Gas should not be left burning in a room with occupants absent. It should never be left lighted all night.

4—They should never be taxed to their capacity.

5—Heaters should be inspected to determine if pipes or tubes either leak or are clogged.

Users of the stationary types of heaters should:

6—See that these heaters are properly vented, the ventilators connecting with the outdoor air. If this is not the situation, they should be doubly certain the room is well ventilated.

7—They should test the ventilators to determine if these flues are clogged with gas excrement or have been stopped through any other agency. If there is a smell of leaking gas and you cannot find it, notify the company which serves the gas.

CHANGE NOTED TO BENEFIT TAXPAYERS

Radical Differences Cited For Payment of 1924 Income Money

Radical changes in the income tax laws face the taxpayer who must file a return for income earned during 1924. In announcing that blank income tax forms were now in the hands of all taxpayers who filed returns last year, Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell today explained some of the more important changes provided by the revenue act of 1924, under which income earned in 1924 must be reported.

Because of the many changes in the law, the collector urged taxpayers to file during January, before the rush begins, in order that the deputy collectors may assist them in preparing their returns.

Who Must File

Every married couple whose net income is $2500 or more must file a return. The old law required returns on net income of $2000.

If you are married and your net income was less than $2500, you will not have to file a return.

Single persons with net incomes of $1000 or more must file returns. Returns must be filed for all gross incomes of $5000 or more, regardless of the amount of the net income.

Under the new revenue bill a personal exemption of $2500 is allowed all taxpayers. The old act limited the $2500 exemption to incomes of $5000 or less, only $2000 being allowed on incomes in excess of $5000. The $400 allowance for each dependent is unchanged.

Formerly a taxpayer's status on the last day of the taxable year determined the amount of his exemptions. If, the return having been made on a calendar year basis, he was married on December 31, he was allowed the exemption granted a married person for the full year ($2000 or $2500, according to the amount of net income), though the ceremony may have been performed on that day. A person who became a widow or widower during the year and was not remarried on December 31 was allowed only a $1000 exemption granted a single person. If, during the year, the head of a family ceased the support in his home of relatives, he was entitled only to the $1000 exemption.

Under the revenue act of 1924 the status of the taxpayer is determined by apportionment in accordance with the number of months the taxpayer was single, married, or the head of a family. For example, a taxpayer who marries on July 1, 1924, will be entitled to an exemption of $1750. For the first six months of the taxable year he is classed as single, entitling him to an exemption of $500—one-half of the $1000 exemption allowed a single person—and for the last six months he is classed as married, entitling him to an exemption of $1250—one-half of the exemption allowed a married person. In such computations a fractional part of a month is disregarded unless it amounts to more than half a month, in which case it is considered a full month. These figures are based on the assumption that the return is made on the calendar year basis, as most are.

VARIED PROGRAMS FOR TUESDAY CLUB

Many Events Of Interest To Be Given This Month and Next; Luncheons, Speakers, Musical Selections

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

With three months of the club year already completed, Tuesday Afternoon club members are eagerly anticipating events of January, February and March, as outlined in the club bulletin, sent to them during the holiday time.

In addition to containing outline of club luncheons and programs for the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, the bulletin has programs of the Literature and Parliamentary Law departments, a list of films endorsed by the chairman of better films and club notes of interest.

To Tell of Trips

Glancing over announcement of club luncheons and programs, one finds much of interest. On January 13, Mrs. H. B. Woodill, curator of the Travel department, will assist Mrs. A. H. Montgomery in presiding. She will introduce as speakers Mesdames Mattison B. Jones, Mabel S. Rudy and T. F. Peirce, club members who have taken recent trips abroad.

In the afternoon Mrs. Nancy M. Schoonmaker, who recently toured Europe as an appointed representative of the General Federation of Women's clubs and the National League of Women Voters, will speak on "International Obligations of American Women."

On Tuesday, January 27, assisting at the luncheon will be Mrs. R. W. Bolton, curator of the Literature department, who will introduce Mrs. Herbert Carr, district chairman of literature; and Mrs. W. F. Macpherson, chairman of conservation, who will introduce Mrs. W. P. Stevens, district chairman of conservation. The afternoon program that day will be given by Branson De Cou, who will give his musical travelogue, "Dream Pictures Around the World."

February Luncheon

At the first club luncheon in February, Tuesday, February 10, assisting at the luncheon will be Mrs. Claude G. Putnam, curator of the Maids' and Young Matrons' department, who will present Miss Grace S. Stoermer, director of the woman's banking department, Bank of Italy, Los Angeles; and Mrs. E. S. McKee, chairman of motion pictures, who will present Miss Regge Doran of the public relations department of West Coast theatres. That afternoon Mrs. Beulah Wright Comstock, director of the Drama department, will give a dramatic recital.

Tuesday, February 24, at the luncheon, Mrs. Roy A. Ballagh, curator of the Fine Arts department, will present Leta Horlocker, district chairman of art; and Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, chairman of international relations, will present James Muffatti, member of the history department of the high school, who will talk on "League of Nations." A Spanish and Mexican program, presented by Miss Nellie Fernandza, singer with Mexican orchestra, will entertain.

On the next luncheon date, Tuesday, March 10, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, chairman of civics, will present George Braden, representative of National Association of Civics; while Mrs. H. W. Ralston, curator of the Shakespeare department, will introduce a special speaker. Of special interest will be the afternoon musical program by the Luboviski trio, Calmon Luboviski, violinist; Maurice Amsterdam, cellist; Clare Forbes Crane, pianist.

Rounding out the period of three months, will be the luncheon and program Tuesday, March 24. At the luncheon Mrs. W. H. Verity, curator of the Parliamentary Law department, will present Mrs. Charles S. McKelvey, state and district parliamentarian; and Mrs. G. H. Rowe, chairman of history and landmarks, will present Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, president of California History and Landmarks club. That afternoon there will be an Indian program.

An outstanding announcement in the bulletin is that on January 26 Mrs. Charles S. McKelvey, district and state parliamentarian, will begin a series of lessons for the Parliamentary Law department.

Hi-Y Boys In Charge Of Methodist Service

Services at the Central Avenue Methodist church last night were in charge of Rex C. Kelley, secretary of the Glendale Y. M. C. A., and a group of Hi Y boys. A large crowd was present for the program which was greatly enjoyed. Rex C. Kelley presided at the service. The program included a talk by Walton Andrews on "The Hi Y, Its Aims and Purposes." Two vocal selections were given by a quartette composed of Harold Jones, Fred Fallis, Harold Parker, and Ed Mishler. Alex McDougall read the scripture. Everett Anderson rendered a baritone solo.

The main theme of the evening's program was "How Boys of Today Can Help in Building the Kingdom of God," and this subject was presented by four boys. Fred Appleton spoke on "Through Our Personal Standards and Relations"; Roland Hodder, "Through Our Attitude Toward Our Fellowmen"; Robert Hatch spoke on "By Our Attitude and Efforts Toward World Peace," Fred Fallis talked on "Through Life Service," and Bert Rolfe gave the closing talk.

UNITED WORKMEN INSTALL OFFICERS

Initiation of Candidates Also Held by Local Order Saturday

Initiation of seven candidates and installation of newly elected officers featured the meeting Saturday night of the local Ancient Order of United Workmen in the Legion hall on East Broadway. There were visitors present from San Bernardino, Ontario, Whittier, Owensmouth and Los Angeles.

Addresses were made by H. C. McMasters, district manager; E T. Lisle, state manager; Mary R. Morrow, district manager. Piano selections were given by Mrs. Clee Sapland. A plate supper was served.

Officers installed were: O. A. Gallup, past master workman; George W. Watson, master workman; Maud E. Watson, foreman; Freda Holmes, overseer; Mary R. Morrow, financier and recorder; Ed Holmes, treasurer; Lillian Armstrong; inside watchman; Leonard Davenport, outside watchman; Ed Holmes, guide; Ed Holmes, Lewis Perkins, Joe V. Griffin, trustees.

Burbank's Postal Team Defeats Glendale Nine

The Glendale Letter Carriers went to defeat at the hands of the Burbank Merchants' baseball team in the final frame of a ten-inning game yesterday. The Glendale postmen stood tied, 9 to 9, with the fast merchant outfit at the end of the ninth inning. In the tenth Burbank scored twice, while Glendale was unable to do any damage.

Richards, pitcher for the letter carriers heaved an exceptional game, striking out the first nine men to face him. The Glendale lineup follows: Bush, ss; Selover, 2b; Currier, 3b; Shoemaker, 1b; Whitley, c; Nye, lf; Weitzel cf; Richards, p; Lynd, rf.

Johnson pitched for Burbank, with Buell on the receiving end. It was the second defeat suffered by the letter carriers at the hands of Burbank Merchants.

Friends Honor Concert Singer's Accompanist

Honoring Gordon Hampson, pianist, who will assist Eva Gauthier in her concert tomorrow night, Miss Gertrude Cleophas of 337 North Central avenue, entertained yesterday a group of friends among other guests who studied with Leschetizky in Vienna at the same time. Those present who studied in Vienna were Gordon Hampson of New York City; Gertrude Cohen, Mrs. J. J. Carter, Mrs. Amelia Smith of Los Angeles; Melicent Virden Jackson, Lolita D. Mason of Santa Monica; Carrie Sharp, Inez Sharp of Pasadena, and Miss Cleophas. Other guests were Dr. J. J. Carter, Ida Selby Donnell, Los Angeles; Katherine Bradish, Ruth Dean, Eagle Rock; Gladys Hopner, Wesley Kuhnle, Glendale.

New Players Seen at Burbank's Tent Show

With a complete new cast of players, the Burbank tent theatre is drawing large crowds every night. This week Herbert (Toby) Walters is showing his company of comedians in "The Girl That Came Back," a comedy-drama that promises to be one of the biggest hits put on at the tent theatre under the new management. The prices of 30 cents for adults and 10 cents for children are proving popular.

Y.M.C.A. Secretary Sends Congratulations To The Glendale Evening News

Rex C. Kelley, secretary of the Glendale Young Men's Christian Association, sends the following self-explanatory communication to A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News:

"My Dear Mr. Cowan: Please let me wish you and your organization a happy and prosperous 1925, compliment you on your splendid New Year's edition, and express our appreciation for the faithful and loyal support you have always given the Young Men's Christian association.

"Your New Year's edition is deserving of special commendation not only for its artistic value as a newspaper, and worth of Southern California, but following so closely your other special paper of the same high standard makes it a good followup to sell our city to non-residents and to make us more appreciate that which is ours.

"To The Glendale Evening News more than I can say is due the position the Young Men's Christian association occupies in our community, and if we do not often tell you of our appreciation, it is ever present.

"May this new year be to you one of joy and success.

"Cordially yours,
"REX C. KELLEY.
"Secretary Glendale Young Men's Christian association."

BURGLARS ENTER SERVICE STATION

Motor and Air Compressor Taken; Petty Home Is Also Visited

The Hewitt service station at Colorado boulevard and San Fernando road was burglarized last night, a small motor and an air compressor being taken, reports E. E. Hewitt, proprietor. The cash register was smashed open but was found empty. Detective Lieutenant W. J. Royle of the Glendale police department, who investigated, found evidences that malicious destruction rather than theft was the primary aim of the entrants, as the place was thoroughly ransacked. A clue that may lead to an arrest is being followed up.

The home of W. B. Petty, 1931 Glenoaks boulevard, was entered last night, according to a police report, and a string of pearls taken. The home of R. R. Mason, 628 Coronado drive, was burglarized last night and a gold watch, chain and cameo ring taken.

W. T. Felt of 1004 South San Fernando road reports the theft of two 34x4 cord tires. Gordon Hoffman of 122 East Laurel street reports the theft of his bicycle Saturday night from the 1700 block on South San Fernando road.

Woman Painter In Plea To Preserve Redwoods

A plea for saving the giant Redwoods of California was made Sunday afternoon to Glendale Art association members by Mrs. Martella Lane of Los Angeles, well-known painter of the Redwood trees. She maintains her studio in Humboldt county and there in the midst of a forest she has done some notable work.

Her talk was illustrated with her paintings, some of which were on exhibition recently at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. She told of the age of the Redwoods and of the rapidity with which they are disappearing. She is lending every effort to save them and cooperating with the women's clubs and other organizations engaged in the same work. Paintings by Mrs. Lane will be on exhibit in the Kanst art gallery on Mulholland drive, and she has invited Glendale people to visit the exhibit, which opens next Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Ballagh, association president, was in charge of a business hour. A birthday dinner was announced for February 21 at the clubhouse. Report was given on the sketching class. Glendale people interested in sketching work are invited to meet at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Ballagh home, 202 West Doran street, and bring sketching materials.

At the next association meeting, the third Friday night in this month, E. Franquinet, Glendale resident and artist and native of Belgium, will talk on Belgian art.

MID-WINTER SINGS OPEN THIS WEEK

Plan Community Program Throughout Season by Service Body

A series of midwinter community sings will be inaugurated on next Thursday night, January 8, in the Harvard High school, when a special program will be presented under the auspices of Glendale Community service. All Glendale residents are invited to attend these gatherings free of charge.

The sings, which are expected to be conducted weekly throughout the remainder of the winter and of the early spring, will be similar to those which were so popular last year. Designed to reach various groups of music-lovers in Glendale, considerable time is being spent by community service workers in preparing a diversity of programs.

The singing will be under the direction of J. Arthur Myers, director of the Glendale Symphony orchestra and the Glendale Choral club. Mrs. Gertrude Erb will be the accompanist.

Special numbers are being arranged for Thursday night when a large gathering is expected to mark the first of the programs. The affair is under the direction of R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of recreation, and a committee from Glendale Community Service.

Glendale Police Aid In Getting Suspects

Three suspected holdup men in a touring car bound south from Bakersfield were arrested last night in Pasadena, through cooperation with the Glendale police department, on information received from M. P. Kimball of Tujunga, who operates a service station on Michigan boulevard.

A motorist who followed the car down told Mr. Kimball that these men had held up eight service stations between Bakersfield and Tujunga. On the rear of their machine, whose license number he declared was 538-853, was painted "Hello, Honey!"

Mr. Kimball transmitted this information to the Glendale police, who, in turn, passed it on to the Pasadena police. The men men were arrested from this description, when they attempted to drive through Pasadena.

Pioneer Jeweler Makes Repair Work Specialty

W. E. Heald, jeweler, 125 West Broadway, is one of Glendale's business pioneers, having located here in 1910, fourteen years ago, when Glendale was a small town.

Mr. Heald came from San Angelo, Tex., where he had been in the jewelry business twenty years, and located in what was then the town of Tropico. He saw the rapid growth of Glendale, the annexation of Tropico and a city of 55,000 rise in a few years. About two years ago he moved to his present location, 125 West Broadway, where he carries a complete jewelry stock. He specializes in repair work and takes pride in turning out work that he can guarantee. Mr. Heald has been in the jewelry business all his life, as was his father before him.

Open Public Speaking Class Here Tomorrow

The class in public speaking which the University of California has scheduled for Glendale, begins Tuesday night, January 6. This class will meet at the Wilson Intermediate school from 7 to 9 o'clock. The course is especially popular with business men and women who wish some instruction in the use of the speaking voice and experience in speaking before others. Anyone interested in the subject may join the class. Charles A. Marsh, who has given public speaking courses in Chicago and at the state university extension division in Los Angeles, will conduct the Glendale class.

LOSS BY FIRE HERE FIXED AT $10,000

Fruit Stand, Grocery Store And Shoe Shop Scenes Of Blaze Saturday

Two destructive fires broke out in Glendale Saturday night, doing a total damage to property and goods estimated by Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department, at $10,000.

The first blaze occurred in the fruit stand of K. Freeman, 220 South Central avenue, starting from some unknown cause at 8:55 o'clock and spreading to the grocery store of C. C. Bass, 224 South Central avenue. The blaze was extinguished by apparatus from station No. 1, in charge of Chief Lankford and Captain Ralph Dodsworth, being pronounced out at 9:45 o'clock.

Mr. Freeman states that he had taken stock Friday and that his stock of goods on that day was estimated to be worth $1872. He carried $2000 insurance, he states. Mr. Bass estimates the damage to his goods at $200. The building was but slightly damaged, Chief Lankford reports.

Shoe Store Fire

At 10:50 o'clock fire broke out in the shoe store of Jay E. McClellan, 116-A South Brand boulevard. Apparatus from station No. 1 answered the call and had the fire out by 11:35 o'clock, Chief Lankford reports. Mr. McClellan was visiting friends in Hollywood at the time but was reached shortly before midnight. He went to the store at once but could form no estimate of the damage done.

This morning Mr. McClellan made an attempt to take stock and declares that in his opinion his stock of goods, which he valued at $15,000, will show a 50 per cent loss. Mr. McClellan carried insurance, Chief Lankford reports.

Department Store Man Leaves for Trip East

H. S. Webb of the H. S. Webb Co., operating department stores at North Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue, and North Brand boulevard and Broadway, left Saturday on an eastern buying trip of three weeks. Mr. Webb left with D. F. Payton, owner of a chain of twenty ready-to-wear stores in the west, with whom he has affiliated in the buying of ready-to-wear apparel. The combined buying power of the Payton stores and the Webb stores will enable Mr. Webb to be in touch with the finest goods the market affords and at prices that will compare favorably with the department stores in the larger cities.

Mr. Webb will visit Chicago, Philadelphia and New York, and while in the latter city will establish a New York office. The ready-to-wear departments in the Webb stores are closed temporarily, to re-open about January 15, under the management of Mr. Gant, who comes from Oklahoma City, where he was manager of the largest ready-to-wear store in the city. Mr. Gant promises Glendale people an assortment of ready-to-wear clothing unsurpassed in quality and selection.

Realty Members Back From Inauguration Fete

President William L. Twining, Secretary John H. Klise, Peter Hanson and L. H. Myers of the Glendale Realty board arrived back in Glendale last night after attending the session of the California Real Estate association and the inauguration of State President D. Richard Ainsley at Fresno on Saturday. President Twining today reported a most successful meeting with forty realty boards represented and fifty-four delegates present. Mrs. Twining, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Myers and Mrs. E. L. Foor accompanied the Glendale realtors to Fresno.

President Ainsley will visit the southern part of the state in the near future, according to Mr. Twining, and may be the guest of the Glendale board. The new state president expressed his appreciation of the co-operation given by the Glendale board in the past.

AT RESEARCH HOSPITAL

Mrs. E. G. Warren of 720 North Orange street is a patient at the Glendale Research hospital.

Los Angeles Man Will Get Evening News

Even Los Angeles residents are subscribers and readers of The Glendale Evening News. G. D. Stepper of 421 South Bixel street, Los Angeles, in sending a check for a year's subscription to The News, says:

"I like your paper and think it is a credit to Glendale."

Kiwanis Club Thanks Evening News For Aid

A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, is in receipt of the following self-explanatory communication from the Kiwanis club of Glendale, signed by Burton McGinnis:

"Dear Sir—In reviewing the events of the past year, we are not unmindful of the hearty co-operation given the Kiwanis club by The Glendale Evening News, and I am directed to acknowledge your courtesies and express our sincere appreciation and thanks for the generous publicity given in your columns to the club's activities during the past year.

"Sincerely yours,

ROAD ASSESSMENT PROCEDURE IS TOLD

City Clerk Outlines Steps Necessary In Payment For Improvement

Editor, The Evening News:—To correct statements in your issue of Saturday, January 3, regarding payments of assessments for the improvement of Sycamore Canyon road.

The contractor has assigned his warrant to Keller-Wattles Co., 304 Pacific Mutual building, Los Angeles, Cal., and all payments must be made to them according to law.

A provision of the law under which the work was done provides that no bills need be sent to property owners and the contractor's assignees have taken this prerogative.

The assessment roll was approved by the City Council on December 30, 1924, and the law states that in twenty days, or January 19, 1925, the contractor or his assigns may order bonds issued to cover all unpaid assessments. Under the 1915 act these bonds are payable, one-tenth of principal each year plus interest on deferred payments at 7 per cent per annum. These payments will appear on yearly tax bills and are payable at the same time and are subject to the same penalities in case of delinquency. In order to clear this bond, ALL principal and ALL interest plus a penalty of 5 per cent will be necessary.

In view of no bills, every effort will be made in the City Hall to inform the property owners in the district assessed, which comprises all property east of the district assessed for the improvement of Glendale avenue. If you own property east of Glendale avenue, call the city clerk's office or street department and give your lot, block and tract and the amount of your assessment will be given. If you want this assessment to go to bond, it will not be necessary to call, as this procedure is automatic and no penalties other than interest will be added.

All payments should be made to Keller-Wattles Co., 304 Pacific Mutual building, Los Angeles, before January 19, 1925, and don't forget to bring your receipt to the office of the street superintendent, City Hall, in order that the assessment may be cancelled.

A. J. VAN WIE,
City Clerk.

Bedding, Pillow Firm New Glendale Business

With the opening of E. A. Gay's bedding and pillow factory, 413 Los Feliz road, another manufacturing plant has started operation in Glendale. Mr. Gay's factory is thoroughly equipped and in addition he handles the Simmons bed.

"I was the first man in Glendale to manufacture a down comfort," said Mr. Gay, "and after almost a lifetime spent in the bedding business I have come to the conclusion that if I had the time I would like to start an educational institute and instruct the public in the art of enjoying real bedding comfort."

Organist Resigns After Thirteen Years

Mrs. Melville Musser of 600 West Colorado street, who has been accompanist at the Central Christian church for the past thirteen years, has resigned her position. In appreciation of her services to the church, the choir presented Mrs. Musser with a table lamp yesterday morning during the church services.

BRILLIANT TEA IS GIVEN AT BEL-AIR

Silver Wedding Anniversary Celebrated at Home of Mattison B. Jones

Brilliant in its entirety was the tea given Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones at their Kenneth road home, Bel-Air, to mark their silver wedding anniversary and to announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lilian Winifred, to Harold Boyd Hershman, son of Colonel and Mrs. Oliver C. Hershman of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Receiving with the hosts and their daughter were Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. M. Ewell Smith, Colonel Hershman, his daughter, Mrs. Madison Keeney. The only regrettable feature of the affair was that Mrs. Hershman was seriously ill at her Los Angeles home and unable to be present. With Colonel Hershman she had made the trip across the continent for the affair and was greatly disappointed at not being able to be present.

A wealth of beautiful California flowers lent color to the charming southern setting provided by the Jones home. Expressive of the bridal motif, orchids, roses, lilies of the valley, orange blossoms and maidenhair fern, were used in profusion, except in the dining room, where the Christmas spirit was featured in a centerpiece of red roses and Christmas candles and red ribbons.

Announce Betrothal

Announcement of Miss Jones' betrothal to Mr. Hershman was made by tiny cards, tied with tulle and orange blossoms, with the names of the young couple engraved. Miss Anna-Ewell Phillips, attractive cousin of Miss Jones, presented the guests with the announcement cards, which she carried in a silver basket tied with tulle and orange blossoms.

Ices served were wedding bells, and the petite fours were heart-shaped with silver icing. A huge wedding cake on the tea table, bore the dates 1900-1925 in silver frosting, with candied orange blossoms as added decoration. The wedding marches were included in the program of music by the Arion Stringed Trio.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were the recipients of countless baskets of lovely flowers, beautiful gifts and messages from all parts of the United States. They and their daughter were showered with congratulations by their many guests, when the betrothal of Miss Jones was learned.

Beautiful Gowns

Gowns worn by Mrs. Jones, her daughter and those assisting were particularly beautiful. Mrs. Jones wore a Nemser model of wisteria chiffon, beaded in Egyptian design of blue, gold and rose, and banded Kolinsky fur. Miss Jones' gown was a Chanel model of coral velvet, beaded with coral and silver beads. Mrs. Smith wore black velvet and old lace, while Mrs. Keeney's gown was of white chiffon velvet, worn with pearls. All wore corsage bouquets of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Jones' three sisters, Mrs. W. E. Evans, Mrs. F. W. Pigg and Mrs. L. A. Phillips, presided over the drawing room, reception hall

A MAN OF PRINCIPLE—
Does not waste the time other men spend debating expediency.
Finds that reputation is a by-product of character.
Finds his promises are seldom discounted.
Never has to ask for special advantages.
Would rather face the facts than dodge his friends.
Is able to spend the time at work which other men spend inventing abilis.

REAPPORTIONMENT

It is interesting, if somewhat disheartening, to note how the selfish, personal interest enters into the consideration of questions of public import. Take the matter of the legislative redistricting of California. The fundamental principle of American government is majority rule and our state constitution provides that reapportionment for the state legislature shall take place after each census and in accordance with the results of the census. Simple obedience to the law on the part of the law-makers of the state would have resulted in re-apportionment immediately following the 1920 census but there are men in our state legislature who, backed by their constituents, have persisted in defying the law and in flouting majority rule in the state.

According to the law the representation from the cities would outnumber that from the country districts and the south would forge ahead of the north. Consequently the country counties and the north who now hold the balance of power in the legislature selfishly are determined that the south shall not have the representation to which her rapidly increasing population entitles her.

A Santa Barbara newspaper sounds a note of warning in an editorial headed, "Danger, Look Out," and asks "What has come over the San Francisco newspapers?" "Lately the four principal San Francisco newspapers have given editorial support and urged legislative redistricting 'as the constitution of state requires,'" this paper goes on to say, and adds, "It is sinister. An influence which bodes ill to the smaller counties is at work."

Of course the south is right in demanding reapportionment. No one can dispute that. But the question arises: "If reapportionment were to give to Santa Barbara county, for instance, greater representation in the legislature would the people of the county be opposed to redistricting? And if we, here in Los Angeles county, were to have our representation cut down by reapportionment, would we be so eager to uphold the constitution? It is too bad that the selfish element should enter into questions of this kind.

TO THE AID OF THE FARMER

The value of the product of the farms of the United States in the year 1924, according to the report of the Secretary of Agriculture was twelve billion dollars. This is about one-fifth of the annual income of all the people of the country.

Much of the solicitude shown for the farmer the past year was political buncome, yet genuine efforts are being made to improve agriculture and it is right that this should be so for the old saying that the prosperity of the country depends upon the farmer is still true. The agricultural commission appointed by President Coolidge is at work as are the agricultural committees of both houses of Congress while Senator Capper has introduced a bill to create a federal marketing board to encourage the formation of co-operative associations, clearing houses and terminal market associations for handling agricultural products.

Heretofore the farmer has been concerned with growing better and larger crops, how to render the acre more productive. But marketing conditions did not keep pace with production and low prices resulted. The problem now is to expand the market without decreasing production.

CONSERVATION PROGRAM

Favorable comment is heard on all sides upon the appointment of Charles Gunn Dunwoody of Pasadena as directing head of the new department of Conservation of Natural Resources recently organized by the Chamber of Commerce of the state of California.

Mr. Dunwoody is to take active charge of the broad conservation program to be presented at the coming session of the state legislature under the auspices of the California Development association. This will include the protection of watersheds and maintenance of timber supply. The department will watch the progress of several amendments to laws relating to fire hazards and will take part in the plan of the association for a systematic planting of trees along the main highways of the state, in co-operation with the state highway commission and under the supervision of the forestry board.

An organization, the object of which is to help conserve the natural resources of the state, will fill a long-felt need. Mr. Dunwoody is to tour the state to familiarize himself with the wishes and the needs of the people of every section of California.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

We are coming more and more to realize our interdependence in all human relationships, but we still have a long way to go before we experience the fullness of satisfaction that such contact can bring us. There is still much of selfishness in our dealings with our fellows, although we are beginning to see that what affects others adversely is not best for us either; that good fortune built on another's ill luck is not firmly grounded.

Many of those elements that we once thought to be conflicting we now know to be identical in their aims and needs. The consumer and the producer are dependent upon each other. They must work together instead of opposing each other. Employer and employe are necessary to each other. Classes and professions must aid instead of fighting each other for their mutual welfare and success.

FALSE DOCTRINE

Having more of the luxuries of life and doing less work is a philosophy that appeals to a great many people today, but it is a principle that is illogical and trying to put it into operation only leads, often, to greater dissatisfaction instead of to happiness, as was expected. It is the theme of the soap-box orator. He teaches men to do less and demand more, a philosophy, no matter how attractive it may sound to the individual, will never work out for the good of society because it is fundamentally unsound, illogical and contradictory.

To work with the idea of laying by or saving so that one may take it easier or retire in later life is commendable, but to deliberately set out to get the better of someone, to do as little as possible for the wage received, to feel that humanity is being served by demanding more and doing less is a mistaken principle that will never benefit anyone.

AND HE HAD SO MANY CHILDREN—!

Women In Politics

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A remarkable feature of the recent elections, both in England and the United States, has been the number of women that were chosen to office.

In England, Lady Astor, the Duchess of Athol and Mrs. Hilton Philipson were returned to office.

In the United States, "Ma" Ferguson was elected governor of Texas, another woman was chosen governor of Wyoming, and Mrs. Knapp was returned to the office of secretary of state in New York.

The influence of women in politics is a good one. Women are conservative, but with a tendency towards progression. Lady Astor says that it is alarming that the election in England swept so many reactionary Conservatives into parliament. "Reactionary Conservatives," she says, "or, rather, the die-hards, are always against women. Still, so many Conservatives have been returned that I am hoping they will be able to help against the Reactionaries."

Women are naturally conservatives. They do not have the adventurous spirit of men, and are more inclined to conserve what we have than go after things that we have not. When a woman becomes a Communist, or Socialist, or Anarchist, she is usually more violent than a man. The trouble is that such things are not in accordance with her nature.

The business of law-making and governing is rapidly passing into the hands of women. They are adapted for the discharge of such duties. Government in the last analysis is but a species of housekeeping, and woman is the natural housekeeper.

Far from looking upon the advent of women into politics as a revolutionary thing, it is rather to be viewed as evolutionary. More and more they are going to come into government until finally the most of government shall pass into their hands.

Woman will never succeed in business, or the creative arts, for those are things that require initiative and adventure; but for governing and law-making, she is admirably adapted.

The perfect government should have a perfect balance between conservatism and liberalism. And that balance is maintained better by women than by men.

Horoscope

Uranus in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. Jupiter and Venus are also friendly.

This is a day most auspicious for all purely mental activities and should greatly benefit scholars and inventors.

Unusual intellectual activity is foretold for all classes of persons, who gradually will awaken to the importance of independent thought.

Newspapers and magazines will prosper, for there is to be much reading in the new year and a great deal of study of international problems.

Aviation is subject to a peculiarly favorable sway at this time when it appears that commercial uses for the airplane are to increase.

Promise of business and professional success for women is indicated in the stars. There is an augury of great progress in banking, big business and the law.

This should be a fortunate wedding day, but brides may expect their husbands to dominate them.

Lawyers, financiers and directors of large commercial enterprises should benefit while this configuration prevails.

Co-operation in every line of activity in which money is earned will be a foremost sign of the times in which 1925 belongs.

Visits from distinguished personages may be expected at Washington, which will have a season of unusual interest to foreigners.

The Prince of Wales now comes under a sinister direction of the stars that will greatly diminish his popularity, the seers warn, for malefic stars are seen in his horoscope.

There is a remarkably good promise for theatres and all assemblies that draw together large numbers of persons.

Persons whose birthdate it is have a happy augury for the coming year. Meetings with friends will be especially fortunate.

Children born on this day have the forecast of success all through life. These subjects of Capricorn usually have good fortune through fortunate associations.

Puzzle

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across)

Word 1. What the boy in the picture is about to do.

Word 4. The missing word in this sentence: "The bird built its nest in the —— of the church."

(Running Down)

Word 1. What a hunter is supposed to do when he sees a bear.

Word 2. A weapon used by the Indians.

Word 3. To go into.

Holiday Trade Draws Heavily On Clothing

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 5.—Heavy demand coming on top of exceptional holiday activity has depleted stocks of clothing retailers. Sales of rubber footwear have been sold out by several houses.

Who's Who

Major General Charles P. Summerall, who will succeed Major General Robert L. Bullard on January 16 in command of the second corps area, during the World war commanded successfully the First Field Artillery brigade, first division and fifth, ninth and fourth army corps of the American Expeditionary forces.

The new commander at Governor's island is one of the general officers recommended by General Pershing in his final report as chief of staff for promotion to the rank of lieutenant general. General Bullard, who held the higher rank before the armistice and for some time thereafter, is another.

General Summerall was born in Lake City, Fla., and appointed to the military academy from that state in 1888. He was a colonel of artillery when the United States entered the World war. In addition to active participation in the hostilities in France as brigade division and corps commander, General Summerall represented the United States on the inter-allied mission appointed by the supreme war council.

Upon his return to the United States General Summerall commanded the first division at Camp Taylor, Ky., and at Camp Dix, N. J. On August 5, 1921, he was assigned to command the Hawaiian department. On October 12, 1924, he was detailed to command the eighth corps area, headquarters at San Antonio, Tex., from which post he will go to Governor's island next month.

General Summerall will be succeeded at San Antonio by Major General Ernest Hinds, now in command of the first division.

EARNINGS FALL OFF

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The earnings of the federal reserve banks in 1924 were the lowest since 1917, it was announced at the treasury this afternoon. The net earnings last year fell off $9,000,000, compared with 1923, the figures being: 1924, $3,700,000; 1923, $12,700,000.

San Salvador, Salvador, is to have a country club costing $125,000.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

We are constantly hearing that "the world is growing better." It appears to be the custom to say that though the wild beast breaks out in Man and casts him back momentarily into barbarism under the excitement of war and crime, yet his normal life is higher than the normal life of his forefathers.

But to all such claims for the existence of a progressive moral evolution, there is the challenging reply of George Bernard Shaw: that a thousand years of such evolution would have produced enormous social changes, of which the historical evidence would be overwhelming.

"Compare our conduct and our codes with those mentioned contemporarily in such ancient scriptures and classics as have come down to us," Shaw suggests, "and you will find not a jot of ground for the belief that any moral progress whatever has been made in historic time, in spite of all the romantic attempts of historians to reconstruct the past on that assumption.

"Within that time it has happened to nations as to private families and individuals that they have flourished and decayed, repented and hardened their hearts, submitted and protested, acted and reacted, oscillated between natural and artificial sanitation (the oldest house in the world, unearthed in Crete, has quite modern sanitary arrangements), and rung a thousand changes on the different scales of income and pressure of population, firmly believing all the time that mankind was advancing by leaps and bounds because men were constantly busy.

"And the mere character of accidents has left a small accumulation of chance discoveries, such as the wheel, the arch, the safety pin, gunpowder, the magnet, and so forth: things which, unlike the gospels and philosophic treatises of the sages, can be usefully understood and applied by common men; so that steam locomotion is possible without a nation of Stephensons, although national Christianity is impossible without a nation of Christs.

"But does any man seriously believe that the chauffeur who drives a motor car from Paris to Berlin is a more highly evolved mar than the charioteer of Achilles, or that a modern prime minister is a more enlightened ruler than Caesar because he rides in an airplane, writes his dispatches by the electric light, and instructs his stockbroker through the telephone?"

So much for the Shavian view. Somewhere Goethe observes:

"Progress has not followed a straight ascending line, but a spirit with rhythms of progress and retrogression, of evolution and dissolution."

In Robert Browning's Paracelsus, last page, is this venture:

Progress is
The law of life, man is not
Man as yet.

NEWLY ORGANIZED CHURCH SERVICE

Rev. Thomas Preaches At Grand View Edifice On Brotherly Love

The evening service at the Grand View Community church last night took the form of a fellowship meeting. All members of the newly organized church were presented a New Year's greeting. The sermon by the pastor, Rev. George W. Thomas, was on John's vision of the church with the open door in the "City of Brotherly Love" from Revelation. He said:

"Through the days of our shaping into the church that has been formed today, we have been earnestly studying the shaping of the Apostolic church in the Book of Acts said Rev. Thomas by way of introduction.

"Now we need to know what the Lord has for us in the year that is opening, the years that lie beyond. The word of God is complete in its message. We know not only how the church was formed from the Book of Acts, but we know also from the Book of Revelation what the risen Christ had to say to all the various types of churches after they had spread over the world.

Greatest Saying

"The greatest thing He had to say to any, He said to the church in the 'City of Brotherly Love': 'Behold, I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it.' He is saying that to the church in Grand View, which you people have so truly made this Christmas season. 'A City of Brotherly Love.' He is saying it because He knows your works, as He knew those of the old church in Philadelphia.

"He is saying it because you, like them, have 'dynamic faith' and you have used it. He is saying it because you are listening to 'what the spirit saith unto the churches.' Before is the open door; in our keeping the destiny of this church and community; in our hearts dynamic faith; before our eyes the glory of His Kingdom shining upon a world that needs us to live, to give, to teach, to redeem, and to serve; in our ears the Spirit speaking. What more could we ask of even Him who was and Is and Is to Come?"

'SILENT YEARS' IS REV. KEMP'S TALK

St. Mark's Episcopal Pastor Dwells on Jesus' Life In Nazareth

"The Silent Years Jesus Spent in Nazareth" was the theme chosen by Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, for his sermon yesterday morning at the church. He said:

"There is a great gap in the evangelical record of the life of our Savior Jesus following the return of Joseph and Mary from Egypt into Nazareth. Except for the brief story of the trip to Jerusalem at the Passover there is a veil of silence drawn over His life. The Gospels tell us nothing of those wonderful years in which as St. Luke says, Jesus grew in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man, but we know that He lived as a member of the little family, taking His part in sharing the responsibilty and hardships of the life of poverty. Nazareth was ever indelibly associated with Him for even after the resurrection He was known as the Nazarene.

"Out of the experience of these years of solitude may we not imagine two great facts standing out that must color our interpretation of His life. There is, first, the fact that He faithfully took His part in the family life or we may call it the smaller duties of life. There was no yearning after the larger share until the call came to go forth and live His ministry.

"Faithfulness in the smaller duties of life fit us for the greater ones. There is an echo of this in His parables where He says faithfulness in the small duties fits one for the larger. The man with the talents who was faithful to the trust was ready for larger responsibility. Or the man who was directed to take the lowest seat at the feast that the call to go higher might come to him.

"Jesus here reveals to us the true secret of greatness to be faithful to the smaller responsibilities of life that we may be ready for the greater ones. The second fact is that during those quiet years He was fitting Himself for the work of those short, busy years of ministry. The family offered Him the best illustration of what the kingdom of God must be—a fellowship founded on love for God and for one another.

"The smaller community of the family must merge into the greater one in which we are all the children of God. How often in parables and elsewhere we find echoes of this ideal. During those years came a growing realization of the divine call to be the leader and savior of men. His father's business became a growing reality deepening with the passage of years as He saw the sins and stupidity of men turning away from God into paths of selfishness and spiritual death.

"In the quiet recess of Nazareth apart from the busy life of the nation was growing into manhood that life which was to bring again to the hearts of men the great reality of a divine vocation whereby we call ourselves the children of a heavenly father."

Rev. Kline Speaks On Possibilities Of 1925

"1925, What About It" was the topic of the sermon delivered yesterday morning by Rev. Leo C. Kline, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church. He said:

"In Luke 13:6-9 Jesus tells a story about a fig that had been planted in a favorable place, cared for by a gardener, but for three years had borne no fruit. In his disappointment the owner ordered the gardener to cut it down and burn it, but the gardener plead for the life of the tree. He promised to give it more care and if at the end of another year it bore no fruit it should be cut down. We are at the beginning of that fourth year. We have had many years of opportunity. For some reason God has planted us in a favorable place. Of all peoples in the world we should be the most fruitful. But many have borne no fruit for years. Their lives have been selfish, mercenary, sinful and empty of those things which God intended should be the normal output of a life. Why be permitted to live another year? There is only one reason, to produce that which God intended, a pure heart and a useful life."

REV. MRS. MOORE SPEAKS ON FAITH

Occult Scientists Told of Part Courage Plays In Religious Belief

Last night Rev. Mabel Moore, pastor of the Occult Science of Christ church, 113 South Orange street, delivered a helpful sermon on "The Triumphant Life," saying:

"The triumphant life is almost perfectly exemplified for us in the personage of our divine example, the Christ. He stands out upon the background of His day as a most heroic and triumphant figure. By unremitting effort and endeavor, we believe, He has succeeded in building into the fabric of His character all of those qualities and virtues whose expression constitutes the life triumphant. Study of His life and contemplation of His teaching will, then, point for us the way to the summit of the mountain of triumph. In studying this most splendid and heroic life, there are four virtues or positive qualities that stand out above others.

"Above all else that He was, the founder of our faith was persevering; He was courageous; He was actively interested in all about Him, and He was wise. Consequently, we see that the four virtues whose development within ourselves will plant our feet upon the pathway of triumph are perseverance, courage, interest and knowledge.

Courage Is Faith

"Perseverance is the cornerstone of all success, without it all other virtues are powerless to accomplish their ends. It is the stabilizer of all effort, and, in time, it will enable us to reach our sublime goal. Courage is faith in action, for without faith one cannot be courageous. Courage is the weapon with which we combat all those elements of the lower nature that seek to limit us and prevent our claiming our heritage of triumph. Without interest one cannot put forth those quisite for all success, whether est is the stimulator and prompter of all action and endeavor, and without these one can do nothing. Knowledge is the one great requisite for all success, whether it be in triumph of the spirit or in business; without knowledge we are powerless. We might as well try to tread the path of triumph without knowledge as to try to ascend a steep and difficult path on a dark and stormy night without a light or lantern. Knowledge comes only from study, and study necessitates perseverance, courage and interest, and so we see that our four virtues are intertwined about each other and are entirely interdependent. One is not sufficient without the others that go with it."

Rev. Mrs. Moore closed with the words: "As we seek sincerely to develop these virtues of the triumphant life within ourselves, we shall gradually, but certainly, come to share in this, our day and age, a certain degree of the calm certainty and spiritual mastery that characterized the life of our teacher and example during His earthly ministry."

GOLD'S VALUE IN SERVICE OF GOD

Presbyterian Pastor Tells Of Right and Wrong Symbol of Faith

The Sunday morning sermon at the Glendale Presbyterian church by Rev. W. E. Edmonds was based on the text found in Isaiah 60:17, "For brass I will bring gold." He said:

"From the earliest ages, gold has been recognized as the most precious and valuable of metals, and has been used to represent the wealth and glory of the world in coins, crowns and costly jewels. In scripture, it has become the emblem of precious things, frequently used as a type and figure of spiritual riches and glorious adorning, that God provides for His saints. The ancient ritual of the Hebrews gave a distinct spiritual significance to the precious metal. While the court of the tabernacle was represented by brass, the holy place employed silver and the holy of holies was furnished and adorned with pure gold. * * *

"In Proverbs, we read, 'My fruit is better than gold,' and truly the things of God are golden in the sense of their value as weighed against the things of this world. 'I counsel of thee to buy of Me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich.' How unspeakably to the believer are the precious things of Christ. 'Unto you who believe, He is precious.'

"Gold is indestructible. God commanded gold and silver to go through the fire because it cannot be destroyed, but only refined. * * * We need faith which is more precious than gold. Spiritual gifts and graces are more than mere human virtues; they are the inwrought gold of the Holy Ghost. * * *

Gold as Symbol

Gold is the most adjustable and the most workable of all metals. A single pound could be drawn into gold wire 500 miles long and beaten into gold leaf to cover 12000 square feet. The Holy Spirit in the human soul produces a spiritual character, responsive and yielding. Plastic in His hands, we receive the image of the Master and go forth as current coin of loving service to our fellow men. Apart from the yielded life, there is brass instead of gold.

"Again gold is employed for noblest uses. 'In a great house there are not only vessels of wood and earth and stone, but of silver and gold * * * some to honor and some to dishonor.' * * * We may walk upon the low levels or the high; employ our time for the second best or for the best, brass or gold. The best and deepest truth, however, is that gold, represents God himself. 'The Almighty shall be thy gold, and thou shalt have the strength of silver.' Silver represents the redeeming work of Jesus Christ. This is our strong foundation, our court to the Holy of Holies.

"Passing to the highest things, the promise is 'For gold I will bring brass.' Brass is the symbol of human strength, the symbol of human righteousness; mere human ideals in the energy of the flesh, self praise, self exaltation. Some people make gifts of real gold but the spirit of the gift is symbolized by brass, consequently they get credit with God, for brass. * * * Or our gifts may be but brass but if the spirit is gold the Lord will give, credit for gold.

Golden Words, Deeds

"The text suggests golden words and golden deeds. 'A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver.' A dying girl in an English peasant cottage gave her testimony to her minister. He was moved to inscribe it in a book which was read by a young nobleman, William Wilberforce, who passed it on to a lazy, young Scotchman and transformed him, Thomas Chalmers, the mighty leader of the Free Church of Scotland. * * * May God give us golden tongues and golden messages.

"The Magi brought gold. As we enter this new year, let us make it a golden year, by putting God into everything we do; golden consecration finding expression through loving, liberal gifts of gold for the causes of the church. When the Master sat over against the treasury, he saw gifts which the givers thought were gold, but which under the eye of the Master were but brass. The widow's mite was golden for she lovingly gave her all. * * * Brass says, 'I'll try, I hope to do better.' Gold says, 'I will.' For brass, I will bring gold. May God give us the golden heart. The best for Him and all for Him with enthusiastic loyalty."

Italy Facing Crisis In Rule of Fascists

enemies and had met with continued rancor.

To his enemies, the partial mobilization of the Black Shirts and the ruthless confiscation of opposition newspapers, were a final dramatic gesture of a leader whose popularity was waning.

There was little doubt that the position of the Fascist administration was considerably weakened and the demonstration of power somewhat bedimmed by the resignations of Gino Sarrochi, minister of public works, and Senator Casati, minister of education, who, with the ministers of war and navy, were the sole remaining members of the cabinet who were not Fascists.

But the Fascist premier met this with immediate appointment of two other liberal deputies to the cabinet.

May Unseat Deputies

"I have lost faith in Fascism," Salandra said. "My work for the past two years to insert Fascism into the normal life of the country has been destroyed."

To offset these adverse terms, however, Mussolini today had the delirious approval of the Fascist newspapers, who pleaded with him to continue the renewal of force against the administration's enemies and consider the steps taken so far as only the preliminaries in the "restoration of tranquility to Italy."

It was believed a decree would be forthcoming soon, declaring that all deputies who do not attend sessions of parliament would be deprived of their seats. The boycott had been the weapon of opposition deputies and their means of showing their disapproval of "Mussolini despotism."

Mussolini practically has placed Italy on a basis of modified martial law, with the strictest orders for suppression of anti-Fascisti organizations, special militia guarding the railway stations and Fascist prefects authorized to mobilize the Black Shirt militia.

Fascisti claim the opposition had planned to create a state of anarchy by disorganizing the railways. They claim a plot was discovered to burn the railway stations and say attempts to carry this out were made in some parts of the country.

The government has ordered the dissolution of the Italia Libera association, composed of former soldiers who are opposed to Fascism.

SATURDAY

THE NEW HUPMOBILE EIGHT WAS UNVEILED

At 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the eagerly-awaited Hupmobile Eight was revealed for the first time at our salesrooms.

Hupmobile invites your immediate comparison between the performance of its new Eight, and all other eight-cylinder cars and all superior sixes.

For Hupmobile has here produced an Eight with all the sound qualities of endurance and reliability which have made Hupmobile famous the world over—

A car which now brings within reach of the average American family, for the first time, every eight-cylinder advantage for which buyers in the past willingly paid hundreds of dollars more.

The Hupmobile Eight possesses superiorities of its own, over and above the super-abilities of the eight-cylinder principle, which unquestionably single it out as a new leader among American eights.

In many important respects the Hupmobile Eight far outdistances anything hitherto accomplished in eight-cylinder engineering in America.

It produces more power per cubic inch of piston displacement than anything which has preceded it.

Its performance is so smooth and symmetrical that there is not even a murmur of "roughness" at any speed.

More than any other fine car, it combines compactness for handling and parking with roominess for riding comfort.

It records an average gasoline economy heretofore unequaled among eights.

It has beauty of design, finish and equipment not excelled within $1,000 of its price; and its own price is less than that of many sixes.

We venture to predict that the men and women who drive the Hupmobile Eight, in their own way and at their own pace, will never again be satisfied with any car that falls short of its amazing abilities.

The price of the New Hupmobile Eight is undoubtedly the most attractive ever placed on such a car. We are now ready to give out complete price information when you come in to see the car.

Good Stores Are Community's Best Asset

As we have said so many times on this page, Community Loyalty includes spending our money at home. Do not look at this matter in a narrow way. Do not feel that you are only helping the merchant individually when you buy of him. The question is so much bigger and involves so much more than that.

While the merchant makes a profit on your purchase he does not hoard your dollar. He cannot. He has obligations, too. And his profit on the dollar you pay him may be but a few cents, so you are benefiting the community and therefore yourself as much as you are the merchant.

As was said above, the dollar you spend with the merchant is not hoarded. He spends it with his fellow merchant, gives it to an employe for wages or uses it to improve his store or his home.

Of course, a good trade means that a merchant can build up a good business, provide fine equipment for his patrons and employes, install extraordinary service features and make a name for himself in the business world. All of these things are personal assets. Likewise they are Community assets.

Long before Glendale was the city it is today, and before we had a shopping district such as we have now, people came from a neighboring big city to buy in a certain store here. This store had built a name for itself that was an asset to the store and no less an asset to the city.

If the housewives, the buyers, all realized that Community building and buying at home were one and the same thing, a Greater Glendale would result very speedily.

The advertisers on this page are carrying on a campaign of education. Let us help them make trading in Glendale unanimous.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Jan. 5.—Many parties were given in the valley to celebrate the New Year among them being the affair at the home of Miss Delia Bastable on Los Angeles avenue, with Mrs. F. Harry Bastable as cohostess. The Bastable home was brilliantly lighted with candles and shaded lights for the occasion, decorations being carried out in the holiday theme. Bridge and mah jongg were played. A buffet supper was served the New Year being greeted with appropriate ceremonies. Out of town guests were: From San Francisco, C. Delvo; Miss Katharine Delvo of Grand Rarpids, Mich.; Thomas Bard, of Ventura. From Los Angeles were: Mr. and Mrs. Bird Harris, Harry Jarman and Dr. Ott Baurmgarner; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dewey of Flintridge; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Culberson, Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Nettleton, C. Dickinson. Misses Louise and Margaret Moissant of La Crescenta, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson of Montrose and Dr. Utley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Armstrong of East Mayfield avenue entertained at a watch party dinner on New Year's eve Mr. and Mrs. William Wellington and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Holden of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. John Rose of Alhambra and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis of La Crescenta. Mah jongg filled in the waiting hours till the New Year arrived. The dinner table was gay with brilliant red and green decorations.

Mrs. Virna Harman Walker entertained a party of guests on New Year's night, having the following at her table: Dr. G. Henry of Hansen Heights, J. W. Floyd, Mrs. F. Gesley, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Swartz, Karl Rossner and Mrs. Gilmor. Mrs. Walker was assisted in serving by Mrs. I. Coughlin. Christmas trees were used as table favors.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Cooper of Briggs Terrace have returned, after spending the holidays at Long Beach, where Mr. Cooper has extensive property interests, being the owner of the St. Anthony apartments and the largest stockholder in the Cooper Arms

George Hansen, who will be remembered for his clever work in "Si Slocum's Country Store," is working up an original skit to present at the vaudeville show to be given next Friday night at the Montrose theatre for the benefit of the Legion post home building fund.

AT VERDUGO CITY

VERDUGO CITY, Jan. 5.—Members of Floyd's orchestra of Glendale were welcomed on their return to the valley to play for the dance given at the Fowler building on the corner of Los Angeles and Honolulu avenues. There will be a dance every Saturday evening here, arrangements being made to have the Sciots band play during the season.

On January 17 a postoffice dance will be held to raise the funds for the new building being erected on the Los Angeles side of the Fowler tract. The building is almost completed, the work being done by H. Fleming, H. Bozarth, Arthur Cox and Joe Huber. Emil Busch, the new postmaster, made the fixtures.

LA CANADA

LA CANADA, Jan. 5.—Residents of La Canada have formed a civic organization known as the La Canada Chamber of Commerce. The following residents have been elected to office for the coming year: Peter Ducker, president; D. Hays, secretary; George L. Miller, first vice-president; Urie B. Curtis, second vice-president; Mrs. W. H. Cooper, treasurer. Meetings will be held on the first Monday evening of each month at 7:30 o'clock, in the La Canada schoolhouse. A cordial invitation has been extended to members of the La Crescenta valley civic organizations to visit the new chamber at its meetings.

Two Sacramento Boys Held In Killing Affray

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 5.—Two youths were held in the county jail here today for investigation following the fatal shooting of Rollin Reed, 17, and the wounding of Orayne Branenberg, 19, in a cabin on the bank of the American river, near here.

Jack Dalton, 18, who admitted firing the shot, said today that a .38-calibre revolver which he was cleaning was accidentally discharged, the bullet passing through Reed and striking Branenberg in the chest. Roy Reed, brother of the dead youth, is also held by the authorities.

Washington Debutante Nuptials Stir Society

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A marriage that has caused a small furore in social and diplomatic circles in the capital leaked out here today. Friends revealed that Abdullah Entezam, 28, first secretary of the Persian legation, and Miss Margaret Hume, 22, a debutante of the season, slipped quietly away to Alexandria, Va., last Tuesday and were married. Miss Hume is the daughter of one of the oldest families of the capital, long prominent in society.

Interest over the wedding increased when it was learned that none of Miss Hume's family attended the ceremony. Mrs. Charles Hume, mother of the bride, turned inquirers away from the home by saying she had been "too busy" to attend her daughter's marriage.

Blast Aboard Lumber Dealer's Yacht Costly

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Jan. 5—A leaky gas line caused an explosion on the private yacht, the Elkwood, belonging to Fred J. Wood, president of the E. K. Wood Lumber company, early today. Two workmen on the vessel narrowly escaped with their lives when their clothing caught fire after becoming saturated with gasoline, by diving into the bay. The damage to the boat, which is a reconverted submarine chaser, was estimated at $25,000.

U. S. EXPECTS LONG WAIT FOR DEBT

Anticipates Much Negotiation Before French Cancel Billions Owing

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Administration officials today envisioned a long and tedious period of negotiation over the funding of the $4,000,000,000 French war debt.

If the Clementel note, now reported en route to Washington, bears out the summaries of it that have been cabled in press dispatches from Paris, it is considered a foregone conclusion here that the terms proposed by France will prove wholly unacceptable to the United States. These terms are understood to be:

1—A moratorium of ten years.
2.—An interest rate of one-half of one per cent, and
3—Payments to be made over a period of ninety years.

Such terms would mark a radical departure from the basic agreements already provided in the British, Polish, Lithuanian and other debt settlements and undoubtedly would lead to staunch opposition in Congress which must, in the end, approve any bargain made by the American debt funding commission.

Fiscal experts pointed out today that a ten year moratorium would not be bringing any money into the treasury until 1935 and that during this period American taxpayers would be paying approximately $125,000,000 a year interest on money that was loaned to France, some of it after the armistice.

Interest Rate

Also, an interest rate of one-half of one per cent is considered out of the question. The British are paying 3 and 3½. And therefore it would mean, experts pointed out today, that throughout the period of the agreement, 90 years, American taxpayers would be making up the difference between one-half of one per cent and the 4½ per cent being paid to holders of liberty bonds.

Administration officials denied today that any British spokesmen have approached this government on the proposition of Great Britain's demanding "equal treatment" from France in any arrangement reached over the debts.

German merchants are using the port of Marseilles, France, for the first time since 1920, when a few German vessels sought to resume the pre-war trade, but were unsuccessful.

Senators Back From Exile In Hotel Prison

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 5.—Rhode Island's twenty-one self-exiled Republican senators have returned from Rueland, Mass., where they had domiciled themselves in a hotel since last June. The Republicans fled their state following the explosion of a gas bomb in the Senate chamber to escape arrest upon orders from Lieutenant-Governor Felix A. Toupin, Democrat.

Upon their return the senators declared they received no compensation while they were in exile. They stated their only expenses were the hotel charges, which were paid by the Republican state organization. It was estimated it cost $1,000 a week for maintenance.

COUNCIL TO LEAD DINNER OF FORUM

This Month's Banquet to Be Held at Tuesday Clubhouse Jan. 19

Plans for the January forum dinner of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, to be given under the direction of the City Council, are under way. The dinner will be held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse on Monday night, January 19.

Each month the dinner is given with some one civic organization in charge of the program. In November the Glendale Realty board led the Chamber of Commerce members. Prior to that other bodies had their turns. There was no dinner during the December holiday season.

Already several hours have been spent by Mayor Spencer Robinson and members of the council in discussing preliminary plans for the January dinner. Councilman C. E. Kimlin has been made chairman of the program committee and announces that the nature of the entertainment arranged will be kept a secret.

It is the intention of the councilmen to establish an attendance record at the January dinner. To this end they are preparing a ticket-selling campaign and wide publicity. Tickets shortly will be placed on sale through the different service clubs and other organizations, while the councilmen will take it upon themselves not to miss any public gathering where an invitation can be extended to attend the forum dinner.

FAST SEAT SALE TO CLUB CONCERT

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones Urges All to Hear Eva Gauthier Tomorrow Night

Rapid sale of tickets for the concert tomorrow night by Eva Gauthier, soprano, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, is reported by officers of the Glendale Music club. The coming of Miss Gauthier to Glendale is a feature musical event inaugurating 1925.

"Every music lover in Glendale should hear Miss Gauthier," says Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the club. "The club is going to great expense to present this internationally known artist, who has made history in musical circles. She presents groups of ancient and modern songs and presents music in more than one light."

Assisting Miss Gauthier will be Gordon Hampson, pianist, who has been heard in Glendale. Tickets may be secured by non-club members at Roberts & Echols drug store or at Glendale Music Co.

Boulevard Nursery Is Giving Special Offer

Attractive specials are being offered for the month of January by Brand Boulevard nursery, 421 North Brand boulevard, and a collection of four rose bushes is being sold for $2.15. The four are Los Angeles, rich flame pink; Louise Catherine Bresleau, coppery orange; Madame Caroline Testout, satiny pink; General McArthur, flame red.

Bottle trees are recommended by the city for parkway planting as the roots do not disturb the sidewalks. Gladiolus, abelia grandiflora and many other plants and shrubs are offered for January planting. To the first 1,500 visitors a beautiful calendar will be given and with each $2 purchase a strong, extra heavy iron garden

Interior Department Given $238,981,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—With $1,141,000 added by the Senate appropriation committee, the interior department appropriation bill was reported to the Senate today, carrying a total of $238,981,000. The increases included $264,680 for continuing surveyors-general in the general land office.

American air-mail stamps may be placed on sale in European cities.

Growth of Southland Helps Valley Farmers; Trucks Carry Products

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.

FRESNO, Jan. 5.—A decidedly different attitude toward Los Angeles and Southern California is to be found in the San Joaquin valley than was apparent several years ago. The growth of the metropolis has made the valley, of which Fresno is a commercial center, the market basket for the Southland.

In olden days—a decade or so ago—Fresno and Bakersfield wholesale houses felt the inroads of Los Angeles competition. The cities saw many of their enterprising business people leaving for the south and establishing themselves in Glendale, Pasadena and Long Beach.

Little wonder that jealousy was expressed up to two or three years ago. The market was glutted with fruit in 1922, and the raisin market went smash. People were not buying goods and merchants here blamed their losses, to some extent, on the prosperity of the southern counties.

Grow Vegetables

But the period of deflation showed the ranchers the necessity for diversification; the metropolitan growth of Los Angeles, linked to the valley by highway, showed a way out. The whole countryside began raising vegetables, producing dairy products, growing cotton and other commodities besides fruit and grain.

The Arvin-Weed Patch communities of Kern county send ten truckloads of produce to Los Angeles daily; fast motor trucks deliver butter from Tulare and Hanford creameries to the two million people south of the Tehachapi every morning. Truckload upon truckload of baled cotton are now to be seen traveling over the Ridge route to Los Angeles harbor. New oil pipe lines are sending a stream of black gold from the Lost Hills and Midway districts of Kern county to El Segundo refineries.

The weekly pay checks sent to the valley from Los Angeles have materially affected financial conditions by providing a constant source of revenue in face of unsettled land values.

Fresno Airport

Among the latest proposals of the dairying interests the writer learns that porcelain-lined tank cars in the near future will take a daily supply of milk to the Los Angeles metropolitan area.

Fresno has been awarded the aero headquarters for the 434th non-divisional aero observation squadron, which will give the city an airport. Bakersfield boosters are going to ask the legislature at Sacramento for endorsement of their municipal airport with a view of joining the other valley cities in a request for aerial mail service between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

It might interest Glendale readers to know that Fresno, with 70,000 population, did only $1,644,000 in building during 1924, as compared with Glendale's more than $10,000,000. However, there is nothing disheartening in this report, for the New Year is another story in a valley with resources such as the San Joaquin.

VISITOR REFUTES WEATHER REPORT

Wisconsin Man Tells of Wild Stories About Sub-Zero Weather

William F. Holland of Green Bay, Wis., arrived in Glendale recently to spend several months visiting with friends and relatives in Southern California. Mrs. Holland and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth de France are with Mr. Holland and are residing at 4930 Maywood avenue, Eagle Rock.

Mr. Holland visited The Glendale Evening News office Saturday afternoon and brought with him a copy of The Green Bay Press Gazette published December 26, 1924. Mr. Holland took exception to a news story in the Wisconsin paper which stated that damage to the citrus crop in Southern California would be $100,000 due to the cold weather. The news item also stated that the weather in Southern California was below zero and Mr. Holland says he knows the latter report is wrong because he has been here for the past month and can vouch for the weather Southern California has been having.

Before coming to California Mr. Holland was turnkey in the rotunda at the Wisconsin State reformatory at Green Bay, Wis., for four years and for two years was manager of the Oneida farm located seventeen miles from the reformatory. Mr. Holland served during the Spanish war and was also engaged as special police for the United Truck Co.

The Bay of Biscay and the Mediterranean Sea are to be connected by railroad, a Spanish company with a capital of $11,987,500 having been awarded the contract.

While in this part of the state, she will visit the Masonic home and also friends in Gardena and Bellflower.

Miss Olivia Larson, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bach of Orange Cove for several months, has gone to Los Angeles. Miss Larson is a sister of Mrs. Bach.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Jan. 5.—"The Salvaging of American Girlhood" was the topic of an address by Dr. Isabel Davenport Saturday afternoon at the Women's Twentieth Century club, before the members of the Junior auxiliary. It was the regular monthly meeting of the younger women. Mrs. Blanche Harriman Verbeck, past president of the Southern California Women's Press club, also spoke. Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer read Abbie N. Smith's "Truthful Thomas as a Wedding Reporter."

Miss June Johnson, 2423 Ridge View avenue, Eagle Rock, has arrived in Honolulu on the Dollar Round-the-World liner President Van Buren on the first leg of the world voyage. After a visit at the Hawaiian islands she will continue across the Pacific to Kobe, and thence through the Inland sea of Japan to Shanghai and Hong Kong.

The first 1925 card party of the Women's Twentieth Century club will be held tonight at the clubhouse, announces Mrs. William P. Hall, who, with Mrs. R. L. Hanners and Mrs. Chester Perrin, constitute the hostesses.

R. L. McNitt, our well-known citizen and attorney, has been notified of his official appointment as a member of the Los Angeles City Planning commission. He was recommended by the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce.

The Thursday Morning Music club will meet Thursday, January 15, at 10 o'clock, with Mrs. W. J. Carry, 5066 Ellenwood drive. The program will be on old English and early French music.

The board of the local Parent-Teacher association will meet January 6, in the Eagle Rock school library, it is announced.

Raymond Sallenbach, who enjoyed a ten days' Christmas vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Sallenbach, has returned to his school at Chino.

Turks Frame Measure To Tax Unmarried Men

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 5.—The national assembly today had under consideration a bill taxing bachelors and childless married men.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Jan. 5.—Tujunga's debut in Pasadena Rose Tournament society on New Year's Day was honored by an award of sixth prize in the Class A, civic bodies entries for the float entered by the chamber of commerce. The design was symbolic of the topographical beauty of the Tujunga valley, the details being a huge boulder for a base supporting a rustic pergola of olive wood. Mountain sage was used for thatching, intertwined with wild flowers, part of these being worked into huge letters spelling "Tujunga." Tujunga pulchritude was represented by beautiful young ladies who graced the pergola with their presence.

A. C. Stover and J. O'B. Bodkin represented the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce in entering the float, which was the first attempt made in the famous parade. George Harris, exponent of rustic architecture, drafted the design and executed the plans. The winning of a prize for the first entry is considered an auspicious beginning for the new year and promising of the future accomplishments of the chamber of commerce and the community in general.

Mrs. Mary Thorsen, 278 East El Centro street, entertained a few neighbors at a New Year's eve watch party at her home. Miss Elizabeth Benedict, Miss Minnie Benedict, Mrs. Helen Rutherford and daughter and Miss Gilmore, Tujunga librarian were in the party that enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Thorsen's home for the evening at the old year waned.

Mr. Thorsen and son Knute of Los Angeles and three younger children, Norman, Thelma and George, went to Pasadena for the Rose tournament parade New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Hartranft are planning to leave soon for Texas and Florida for the winter.

January 22 will be reciprocity day with the Tujunga Woman's club. An interesting program is being arranged, one of the principal features being an address by Prudence Penny, home economics expert and feature writer.

A series of social affairs including dances, entertainments and card parties is being planned by the Parent-Teacher association for the remainder of the club year which ends in June. On January 28 a chautauqua attraction has been planned to be given in the school auditorium.

Mr. Loomis of Huntington Park is the principal speaker scheduled for the next dinner to be given by the Community church Men's Brotherhood on January 6 at 6:30 o'clock. Dinner will be served by the Ladies' Aid society.

Council Minutes

Minutes of the Glendale City Council, prepared by city clerk

Minutes of the Glendale city council, in session Friday, January 2, follow:

Council assembled at 10 o'clock a. m. All members present. Minutes of December 30 read and approved. Councilman Davis excused.

Improvement of Alley

In accordance with call, bids were publicly opened, examined and declared for the improvement of the first alley northerly of Broadway, Concord to San Fernando road, from the following bidders: E. L. Fleming, Hugh Cornwell and C. L. Hill. Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, duly carried, that bids be referred to city engineer for checking and report.

Improvement of Bruce

The clerk notified the council that this was the time, hour and place fixed for hearing protests or objections against the proposed improvement, or the extent of the district to be assessed for the improvement of portions of Bruce avenue, Glenwood road and Eighth street in the city of Glendale, as particularly described in resolution of intention No. 2691, passed by the said council on the eleventh day of December, 1924, and the clerk also reported to the council that he had not received any written protests or objections up to the time set for the hearing. Whereupon, the mayor asked if there were any interested persons present who desired to be heard, and all interested persons having been given full opportunity to show cause why the proposed improvement should oot be carried out in accordance with the said resolution of intention, and all objections having been heard and considered; on motion of Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman MacBain, duly carried, all protests were denied. Whereupon Councilman Kimlin introduced a resolution entitled, "A resolution of the council of the city of Glendale ordering certain improvements to be made on portions of Bruce avenue, Glenwood road and Eighth street within the city of Glendale," which was read, and on his motion seconded by Councilman MacBain, the same was numbered resolution No. 2703 and adopted.

Issuance of Bonds El Rito

The clerk informed the council that this was the time, hour and place for continued hearing, when and where all persons might appear and state their objections, if any, against any action of the council of the city of Glendale to determine the aggregate amount of unpaid assessments for the improvement of El Rito avenue and other streets in said city, and providing for the issuance of bonds therefor, and prescribing their denomination, as more particularly described in resolution of intention No. 2369, passed by the said council on the twenty-fourth day of Apsil, 1924. Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, duly carried, that hearing be continued until Thursday, January 8, 1925, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Nuisance Alleged

A protest against alleged nuisance at 1120 Stanley avenue, signed by property owners in the immediate neighborhood, was read. Same having been referred to the health officer was returned with a report. Moved by Councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman MacBain and carried, that health officer and building superintendent reinspect said premises and report back to the council as soon as possible.

Improve Lake Street

Petition signed by property owners asking that Lake street be improved from the southern city limits of the city of Burbank to Sonora avenue with forty foot five inch macadam pavement, concrete curbs, was read. Moved by Councilman, Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, that petition be referred to city engineer for checking and report.

Electric Sign

Request of Automobile Club of Southern California for special permit to erect an electric sign in front of its building at 415 South Brand, and request that city move a pole in front of said building, was read. Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman Kimlin, duly carried, that request be referred to city manager.

Demand

Moved by Councilman Gilhuly, seconded by Councilman MacBain, and carried, that petty cash demand of V. B. Stone, city manager, in the sum of $20.90, be allowed and ordered paid.

Ordinances Adopted

The ordinance entitled, "An ordinance amending ordinance No. 529, passed January 12, 1922, and entitled, "An ordinance of the city of Glendale establishing a residential district, an industrial district and four commercial districts in said city; regulating and restricting the location and locations of and the maintenance and carrying on of industries, trades, businesses in said city; providing for a 'residential, industrial and commercial district map' of said city; prescribing the penalty for the violation hereof; and repealing certain ordinances, by adding thereto a new section to be numbered section 4aa29," which was introduced December 26, 1924, was read, and on motion of councilman Kimlin, seconded by Councilman Gilhuly, said ordinance was adopted and numbered ordinance No. 1030.

AUTOISTS DAMAGE ROAD

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 5.—Warrants have been issued for George Williamson and F. Fisher of Los Angeles who are charged with maliciously breaking down the barrier on the Santa Ana canyon road, now under construction, at the Orange county line. The men were members of an auto party of four machines. After tearing down the barricade the machine passed over a half-mile of newly surfaced roadbed and into new work where considerable damage resulted, according to County Road Superintendent Connor.

PAIR FIGHTS ANNULMENT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 5.—Oscar Morgan and his pretty 16-year-old bride will fight a recent annulment suit brought by the girl's father, Richard Morgan of Wintersburg, according to a statement by the newlyweds. The father seeks annulment on the grounds that the daughter did not obtain consent of her parents to the union. Mrs. Morgan claims she secured the consent of her mother. The young folks were not related before marriage, although bearing the same surname.

CELEBRATE ROAD OPENING

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 5.—Plans for a joint celebration between this city and Huntington Beach at the opening of the coast highway are being made by the chambers of commerce of the two cities. A committee has been named to confer with members of the State Highway commission as to the opening date.

JAIL SHOWS TREND

SANTA ANA, Jan. 5.—Joseph Irvine, deputy Orange county jailer, has a new kind of prosperity story. "I use the jail here as a business barometer for Orange county and I have never seen it fail yet," he said. "When the jail is full business is bad, and when the jail begins to empty and few prisoners are brought in then I know that the outside world is basking in sunshine and plenty."

AMALGAMATION TALKED

VENICE, Jan. 5.—Amalgamation of this city's realty board and the Santa Monica Real Estate board will be discussed at a meeting scheduled for tonight. Members of both organizations feel that better results may be obtained with one large organization instead of two separate bodies.

HOSPITAL HEADS TO MEET

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 5.—Annual meeting of the stockholders of the Riverside Community hospital will be held January 16. Officers and directors for 1925 will be elected.

BOOTLEGGER PAYS DEBT

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 5.—"You'll never get me, but if you do I'll buy you a diamond ring," Dick Buttrey, suspected bootlegger of Salt Lake City told Sheriff Ben R. Harries. "If I don't arrest you within twelve months," replied tht sheriff, "I'll buy you the diamond ring." The sheriff is wearing the ring.

British subjects are permitted to operate radio sets in Gibraltar, the license fee being $2.25 a year, but very few natives are permitted to "listen in."

Steel Furnaces Open Virtually Full Blast

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 5.—The Carnegie Steel Co., now is operating forty-one of fifty-eight blast furnaces and Jones & Laughlin eleven out of twelve. Some of the smaller plants, especially finishing mills, will close shortly for inventories without closing down. New buying of steel has been light on account of the holidays, but is expected to pick up. There have been few price changes last week but the minimum price of plates has gone up $1 a ton here and the higher prices for pig have been definitely established.

$5,749,457 Set Aside For Work In Denver

DENVER, Jan. 5.—Public improvements to be started by the city of Denver in 1925 will involve expenditure of $5,749,457, according to announcement by public officials today.

Biscuit Firm to Build Big Plant In Denver

DENVER, Jan. 5.—The National Biscuit Co. has announced plans for the erection of a $1,000,000 plant in Denver. Ground will be broken before March.

Blizzard Works Harm To Missouri Wheat Crop

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 5.—Missouri wheat was seriously damaged by the recent blizzards. In the southern part of the state the loss is estimated at almost 50 per cent.

INDEX TO CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT

PAGE 6 OF THIS ISSUE OF THE EVENING NEWS

Of course when you want to buy merchandise of any kind you are anxious to patronize a Glendale dealer. When you wish to employ professional skill it is your desire to secure a local man. When repair work is needed it is to your advantage to have the work done by mechanics near home.

The object of this index column is to refer you to the CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT on Page 6 of this issue, where you will find listed a large number of merchants, tradesmen and professional men who are real boosters for Glendale. While the Community Loyalty Section will appear in The Evening News one day every week, yet readers are advised to cut it out and hold it for reference for the purpose of ascertaining names and locations of business firms in Glendale.

Heart and Home — Health and Happiness

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

TWO-THIRDS SHRUNK

If you joined our reducing class on January 2 you have completed your three-day shrinking-stomach period.

I notice other writers are using this term "shrink the stomach" now for reducing. It really is a good term. I coined it and if anybody should be able to coin terms on reducing it is truly yours. Now I'm boasting and boasting is usually considered an evidence of an inferiority complex, but in this case we will have to think of it as the reverse. I have had to fight overweight in myself ever since I can remember and I have succeeded—most of the time—and if there is anything that makes one feel superior it is the conquering of overweight. The Good Book has it that "he who conquereth his spirit is greater than he who ruleth a city," or something to that effect. You have been conquering your spirit (in this case, your appetite), for three days now, and I'll warrant that you feel superior and wonderfully exhilarated both in mind and body.

You have been having 600 calories for three days in the form of your morning beverage and one slice of toast with a scraping of butter and with four glasses of fruit juices or five glasses of skim milk or buttermilk the balance of the day. I told you that today you might have 200 calories more of food in the form of two extra slices of bread or eight dates. If you feel that you are strong enough to continue this semi-liquid diet longer it will be a good plan to do so. Those of you who have only 10 or 15 pounds to lose can lose nearly all of it. Some of you have lost ten pounds already. Those who do not wish to continue on the 600 or 800 can have 200 more tomorrow, making a total of 1000 calories. You can divide these 1000 calories to suit yourselves, but if you want most of them in one good meal, either at noon or dinner, or if you want them in several smaller meals, it makes no difference.

It is wise to get on to the regime that you are going to carry out through your reducing period as soon as possible, and for that purpose I suggest: Breakfast, 100 calories; lunch, 400 calories; tea time, 100 calories; dinner, 400 calories.

For breakfast, if you are used to coffee, you will want that. If you take cream or sugar or both you will have to count a tablespoonful of thin cream 35 calories and a tablespoonful of thick cream 70 calories. A cube of sugar is approximately 25 calories. It is best to learn to like your beverages unsweetened. You certainly can do without cream and sugar together. If you take your coffee plain that will allow you 100 calories for toast or fruit.

Lunch

	Calories
Plate of clear vegetable or meat broth (no fat)	25
10 oz. of skim or buttermilk (one ordinary glass is 8 oz.	100
1 slice of wholewheat bread (toast if preferred) (one-half inch thick)	100
1-4 level tablespoonful of butter	25
1 poached or boiled egg	75
1 good sized apple or orange	75
	400

Tea Time

100 calories of fruit or skim or buttermilk.

Dinner

Clear soup (see lunch time)	25
Very lean meat or fish, 3x2x1-2, OR
2 heaping tablespoonfuls of cottage cheese (no cream)	100
1-2 cupful tomatoes, canned or raw (no fat)	25
1 large serving lettuce or raw spinach	25
Dressing made from 1-2 tablespoonful oil (50 calories) and lemon juice, 1 no calories)	50 tablespoonful (practically
1 slice bread (1-2 inch thick) or 1 medium potato	100
1 medium baked apple (no sugar)	75
	400

You may save your 25 calories of hot soup to take before retiring. Or you can get some of the vegetable and meat bouillon extracts and make a cup of broth from these. They are practically calorieless.

Tomorrow—What You Will Sidestep by Reducing

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

HAND MASSAGE

In the beauty shops where manicures are as high as $2, hand massage is included as part of the treatment. It ought to be! These shops claim that no hand is properly cared for if it is not massaged, that such treatment prevents the gnarled, rough-looking hands of middle or old age, keeps the skin white and reduces large finger joints. I've forgotten what else they claim. I take it with a very large grain of salt, considering how much more profitable is a manicure at $2 than one at, say 50c.

Personally, I prefer being my own masseuse for $2 will buy the best of the new books. And a manicure, plain or embellished by massage can be done in some odd half hour at home.

Hand massage has its uses, of course. It brings the blood into the extremities of the arm, wherewith to the feet and ankles, it is not to be sluggish. Cold and clammy hands are often cured by a steady course of massage, and rheumatic hands benefit greatly.

Begin at the fingertips. With the thumb and first finger of the other hand, work upward to the first joint, pressing against the middle joint and working the finger back and forth to keep this joint loose and flexible. Then with the thumb against the palm of the hand, work the four fingers over the back of the hand. Massage the thumb as you did the fingers. Then take the wrist in the entire hand and rub around and around it and rub up and down the arm from the elbow. You could knead the flesh here.

When you have massaged both hands, extend them before you and make them rigid, fingers and thumbs in as though clutching. This is a wonderful exercise for muscles growing stiff from rheumatism.

Anna S. Constant marcelling will certainly make your hair full and lifeless because it will dry out the essential oils of the hair. And even when well done, it will in time burn and break the hair. Having it marcelled now and then will not hurt. If you must have your hair wavy all the time, roll it up at night on soft kid curlers. This is the least harmful way, in fact, doesn't hurt the hair at all.

M. J. A. By no means apply pure alcohol to the skin, it will burn it badly or at least make it dry and chapped. Pure olive oil is excellent as a skin cleanser, also a flesh builder. If there is a tendency toward superfluous hair, it might increase it a little, but so little that it isn't worth bothering about.

Tomorrow—Answers to Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question—The Editor.

Mrs. Louisa Schellar, who recently died at the age of 90, when a girl worked as a milliner on hats for Queen Victoria and other members of the royal family.

According to one new law in Panama, street signs must be in Spanish, another will compel the keeping of books in that language and still another imposes a fine if half the employes of a concern are not Panamans.

Salmi of Tongue: This dish will be called for in Saturday's menu. It is for a Sunday night guest supper and may be cooked either at the table in a chafing dish or on a range. Start it in a pan over direct heat. Brown two tablespoons of butter and stir into this one and one-half tablespoons of flour; brown again, then add two cups of canned, thinned consomme or other thin soup. Let this boil up for five minutes, stirring constantly, then season with one-half teaspoon of salt and a pinch of pepper. Now add two cups of diced canned tongue with skin and fat removed, and also add twenty stoned olives cut in half. Set the pan in another pan which contains hot water and cook in this way for fifteen minutes. Serve on buttered toast.

Fruit Salad: On Friday a fruit salad is called for in the menu. This may be made of almost any left-over fruit one has on hand. For instance, a few prunes from Friday's breakfast may be added to diced oranges and the mass covered with either French or Mayonnaise dressing. Or one may use two bananas, finely sliced and mixed with a few diced, cooked beets (this makes a pretty pink-colored salad, as the red from the beets colors the bananas). Raw shredded cabbage is another vegetable which is successfully combined with certain fruits, for instance, cabbage and diced apples make a good combination, topped with a few walnut meats.

Baked Tomato and Cheese Dish: Either canned or fresh tomatoes can be used in making this dish. Flavor cooked rice with hot, stewed tomatoes, stir in one beaten egg, season to suit individual taste with salt and pepper, sprinkle finely chopped American cheese over the top of the dish and bake thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot.

In Cooking Beef Stew in Thursday's dinner, try searing the raw pieces of beef before putting them over to simmer. By frying them in hot bacon fat, or beef drippings, until lightly browned on all sides, one is able to obtain a darker-colored gravy than is the case when the meat-pieces are merely simmered, with the potatoes, onions and carrots, without previous searing. (After searing proceed to simmer the meat with the vegetables as usual.)

Hard Sauce (for steamed fruit pudding): Cream one-third cup of butter and work into it one cup of powdered sugar; flavor with one-third teaspoon of vanilla extract. Continue creaming the sauce until very smooth.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Hear Mrs. Meeker

Planting and conservation of trees has a prominent place in the activity of the General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, and at the meeting Wednesday afternoon at First Congregational church, chapter members are to have an illustrated talk on "California Redwoods." Mrs. R. W. Meeker, Glendale resident and chairman of the Redwood Memorial Grove fund for Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, is to be the guest speaker. Glendale people have learned with interest of Mrs. Meeker's activity in this cause through the columns of The Glendale Evening News. She is much in demand as a club speaker, illustrating her talk with wonderful pictures of the giant trees. In connection with her lecture Wednesday Mrs. Clement B. Hellyer is to sing "Trees," the words of which were written by Joyce Kilmer. Mrs. Ida D. Myers, regent, urges all members of the chapter and visiting members to be present at 2 o'clock.

Social Meeting

Greetings for the new year will be given Wednesday afternoon by members of the Literature department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, meeting in the tea room of the clubhouse. Mrs. R. W. Bolton, curator, announces that it will be a New Year's meeting, with Mrs. J. A. Bolton, social chairman, as hostess. At 2 o'clock a program will be given by Mrs. Cecil Bonham, vocalist, and Miss Bess Long of the Emerson School of Self-Expression as reader, presenting pianologues. All club members are invited to attend.

Resume Meetings

With the holiday rush past members of the Mutual Benefit Reading circle are to resume activities Wednesday, when they will meet at 11 o'clock in the juvenile room at the Public Library. Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman, will preside. Much interest is being taken by members in the new study book, which has already inspired live discussion. Mrs. Henry will continue reading from it on Wednesday.

Bible Lecture

Miss Winifred Rouzee, Bible student and lecturer, will be heard at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, in one of the lectures she is giving under the auspices of the Bible department of the club. Mrs. Charles H. Temple, curator of the department, is anxious that all Glendalians interested hear Miss Rouzee. This department is the only one in the club open to the public.

Postpone Meeting

Installation of officers of N. P. Banks Auxiliary No. 7, Sons of Veterans, which was scheduled for tomorrow night has been postponed until January 20. A called meeting of the auxiliary will be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Pearl Gillette at 212 West Cypress street.

With Mrs. Rice

Mrs. F. S. Rice of 334 Oak street is to be hostess all day Wednesday to members of Poppy Circle of First Congregational church. The women will meet at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. Those attending are to bring sandwiches and their own work. Plans will be made for the new year.

Rebekahs Install

Installation of officers of Glendale Rebekah lodge No. 257, will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Odd Fellows' hall. Mrs. Della Hause, district deputy president and her staff from Los Angeles will act as installing officers. The installation ceremonies will be public, and will be held in conjunction with the Odd Fellows' lodge. Carl Wilde, deputy grand master and his staff from Van Nuys will be installing officer for the Odd Fellows. Elective officers to be installed for Glendale Rebekah lodge are: Viola Ertel, noble grand; Guila Darling, vice-grand; Fanny Groutage, secretary; Mabel Goodfellow, financial secretary, and Winnie Hartley, treasurer. Officers of the Odd Fellows' lodge to be installed are: Nels Johnson, noble grand; Howard Stanley, vice-grand; Wynn Groutage, recording secretary; Charles Stanley, financial secretary, and Ernest Rich, treasurer. Appointive officers of both lodges will be installed during the ceremonies.

CHAPTER XII

"I wonder," Grant meditated, "how much you understand of the science of bluff."

"Nothing," was the emphatic reply. "I have always treated you with the utmost candour. I tell you everything that may be for your good. Now I'll tell you another thing which you probably do not know because for some reason or other it has been kept rather secret. I only knew myself a few hours ago. The next meeting of the nations subscribing to the Limitation of Armaments has been fixed for about five weeks ahead. That will be before a final decision can be arrived at with reference to the matter in which we are interested."

"In Washington?" Grant demanded.

"In Washington."

"Lord Yeovil will be present?"

"Naturally. You will have an opportunity of telling him of the progress you have made. Our friends over here will arrange to finish the meetings of the Limitation of Armaments and bid their guests farewell before the news of their adverse decision with reference to the Pact is known."

"You are really a very interesting fellow to meet," Grant admitted. "You are always full of information."

"We must see more of one another," Blunn murmured. "Meanwhile—"

They saluted with great politeness and passed on. Grant was obsessed with only one thought. Lord Yeovil might be out at any time within the next month and probably Susan. He had written to her once or twice and received no reply. He suddenly swung round and caught up with Blunn again.

"May I ask you a question?" he begged.

"Why, my dear fellow, of course," was the immediate response.

"You have alluded to a ridiculous rumor that the Princess von Diss accompanied me on my yacht when I left Monaco. Was that rumor—prevalent?"

"From one end of the Riviera to the other. There was scarcely any one who did not believe it."

"Thank you," Grant muttered.

He strode off, furious with the malicious turn of fate, which Blunn's news had brought into the forefront of his mind. Of what benefit to him was Susan's coming? What joy would he find in seeing her? Probably by this time she had cast him out altogether from her thoughts as an adventurer, one of those most hopeless of all people in the world to deal with—a man with the spirit of a boulevardier, a poseur in love as in life. He walked rapidly away and back to his hotel. There was a letter to be written that night—a letter which from any point of view must mean an accusation against himself. He ascended to his rooms full of his purpose. As he entered the salon however, he stopped short. The person who had been in his thoughts for days was seated there, smoking a cigarette and, apparently, waiting for his return. A pile of magazines was strewn before her, the pages of which she was turning over a little listlessly. At Grant's entrance she pushed them all away from her with an air of relief. She looked across at him sombrely, yet gladly. There was not a flicker of emotion, not an effort at coquetry. She was just now as she was when they had fought their little duel once before, silent, imperturbable, a trifle contemptuous.

"Mademoiselle Cleo!" he exclaimed.

"Monsieur," she replied. "You have been a long time coming."

"Not so long, Mademoiselle," he replied promptly, "as you have been in keeping your word."

She rose to her feet. More than ever there seemed to be feline suggestions about the way she looked and stretched herself.

"Be so kind," she begged, "as to order me some tea and some cigarettes. I think—I am almost sure—that I have made up my mind to tell you the things you desire to know."

Grant rang the bell and gave the waiter an order. Then he pulled up an easy-chair for her and seated himself opposite.

"Did you come with Itash or did you follow him?" he asked simply.

"I followed him," she acknowledged. "What I was told I could not believe. Last night I saw with my own eyes. He has brought Yvonne here, brought her to New York. He, who had promised me a hundred times—but that makes no matter."

"Did you come alone?"

"I came alone. It was an evil day for Itash when I came."

"Tell me this," he said. "You profess to know Itash's secrets, yet Itash is a very clever man. Did he confide in you, or did you steal papers?"

"Neither," she answered.

"Then will you tell me," he begged, "exactly how it is that you are in a position to dispose of his secrets?"

She smiled.

"That is my affair," she declared. "Some day—very soon—you shall know."

Cornelius Blunn was a guest such as hotel proprietors dream of and very seldom have the chance to entertain. His demands were always on a magnificent scale and no spendthrift prince in the days when there were such beings could have shown less disposition to haggle. At the Great Central Hotel in New York he had a suite of five or six rooms, the most simple of which was his own bedchamber. Notwithstanding his affability and democratic habits, he was a person difficult of approach. In an outer room there were always two or three typists. In the next room were the travelling advisers connected with his various entertainments, who, with his direction and lavish cabling, influenced the destinies of his industrial ventures when he was from home. Then came a smaller chamber occupied by his secretary—a somewhat colorless young woman of twenty-nine or thrity years of age, with thin sandy hair, and intelligent forehead, close-lipped, silent, a woman of deliberate ways and quiet speech. Beyond was a pleasant little reception room, with a lavishly furnished sideboard, plenty of magazines and easy-chairs, and, leading from it, Blunn's sitting room, an apartment with a great writing table, a special telephone and very little else in the way of furniture. The chair occupied by his visitors was a comfortable one enough, but it faced the north light. Even Itash blinked behind his spectacles as he subsided into its depths.

"You have news, my young friend?" Blunn enquired of his caller.

"There is very little," the latter answered, speaking with his usual deliberation. "Four more names have been sent in from our headquarters at San Francisco. They all desire places of responsibility. One of them, a fruit grower in California, is well known to me. His father was in the service of our family."

Cornelius Blunn nodded.

"Good," he said. "You have places for them?"

"For the first three," Itash replied. "The man I spoke of last, I have sent for. I propose to take him into the Intelligence."

"You have no other news?"

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"The Hole in the Wall," a weird mystery melodrama with a theme bearing on mysticism, will open at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre on Wednesday, announces Miss Eva Daniels, business manager of the Dobinson Players. The author of the play, which was a New York hit, is Fred Jackson, noted for his many dramatic successes.

Jean liver, the principal character of "The Hole in the Wall," a woman incarcerated in a state penitentiary for a crime of which she is innocent, and who aligns herself with a gang of clever crooks who employ spiritualism to gain their ends, is portrayed by Mary Worth. "The Fox," leader of the crook gang, is played by Olaf Hytten. Joseph McManus has the role of the reporter-detective, who assists the police in rounding up the gang.

THE GATEWAY

An astonishing and history-making film is promised in "So This Is Marriage," Hobart Henley's production for Metro-Goldwyn, which is showing at Gateway Theatre today and Monday. It is not only a shrewd study of married life as lived today, but also shows that similar conditions confronted young couples in the time of the ancients. A marvelously beautiful interlude is used to illustrate this part of the story, dealing with the old Biblical tale of King David and Bath-Sheba. This section has been photographed in natural color.

Among others in the cast are Eleanor Boardman, Conrad Nagel, Lew Cody, Clyde Cook, Warner Oland, Mabel Julienne Scott, Edward Connelly, John Boles, and Miss DuPont. The story is by Carey Wilson. "So This Is Marriage" looks like a sensation.

THE GLENDALE

"Bread" continues at the Glendale theatre.

THE T. D. & L.

"North of 36" continues at the T. D. & L. theatre.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JILLIE'S TRAP

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hoping through the woods, looking for an adventure, he saw, near a clump of bushes, Jillie Longtail, the little mouse girl. Jillie had on her fur coat. Her long tail was tied in a ribbon so it wouldn't take cold, for there was snow and ice on the ground.

"I wonder what Jillie can be doing out in the woods all alone?" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I must ask her. All alone as she is, the Big Owl might pick her up and fly away with her."

So the bunny gentleman hopped over to the clump of bushes and there he saw Jillie putting a stick under the edge of a box, to prop the box up in the air. Fastened to the stick that held the box was a long string.

"What are you doing, Jillie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I am making a trap to catch something," explained the little mouse girl.

"And what do you hope to catch, Jillie?" asked the bunny.

"Some cheese," answered Jillie. At first Uncle Wiggily thought she was joking, but Jillie never smiled, and the bunny asked:

"How do you expect to catch cheese in a trap, Jillie?"

"Why not?" inquired the mousie. "Don't people put cheese in traps to catch mice? Then why can't a mouse set a trap to catch a bit of cheese. I'd like to know? Besides, I don't want the cheese for myself. I want it for my brother Jollie, who is sick."

"Oh, that is very kind of you to want to trap some cheese for your sick brother," said Uncle Wiggily. "I didn't know he was ill."

"He is," squeaked Jillie. "Jollie is quite sick and he keeps crying for a bit of cheese. There is none in our hole house so I thought I would come to the woods and see if I could trap any."

"But where do you think the cheese will come from to be trapped, Jillie?" asked the bunny. "Cheese is sold in the six and seven cent store, you know."

"Yes," answered Jillie, hiding in the bushes with the string to pull the stick from under the box so it would fall and trap the cheese if it got under. "I know. But a cheese is round, you see, and maybe one will roll out of the store and roll along here like a hoop under my box and then I'll trap it and take it home to Jollie."

"You're a dear, good little mousie girl," said Uncle Wiggily, with a laugh and a twinkle of his pink nose, as he hopped away. And if Jillie had been looking she would have seen the bunny uncle hopping toward the six and seven cent store. Of course I'm not going to tell you why he went that way. But perhaps you can guess.

At any rate, a little while after that, as Jillie was hiding in the bushes, holding in her paw the long string, and ready to pull it and let the box trap fall down—a little while after that something round rolled down the hill.

"Oh, it's a cheese. It's a cute little cheese," squeaked Jillie. "I mustn't make a noise and scare it. But I do hope it rolls under my box so I can trap it."

And, surely enough, the cheese did. It rolled under the box. Jillie pulled the string. Out came the stick. Down dropped the box. The cheese was caught.

"Oh, I have it. I have it," squeaked the little mousie girl, dancing up and down for joy. "I've caught a cheese, for my brother Jollie. How glad I am."

And just then Uncle Wiggily hopped out of the bushes, and he, too was glad with Jillie.

"You certainly are a clever little mouse girl," laughed the bunny. And if the dish doesn't jump over the spoon when the fork is telling the knife not to cut up so much, I'll relate to you next a story about Uncle Wiggily and the black kitten.

Scout Cruisers Booked For Air Mail Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Conversion into airplane carriers of the Lexington and Saratoga, two scout cruisers condemned to scrap by the armament limitation conference, will be accomplished at at cost of $34,000,000 each, according to Chairman Butler of the House naval affairs committee, who introduced a bill in the House authorizing an increase in appropriations.

Each of these carriers will be equipped with a catapult to launch aircraft from the decks, a device perfected by the American navy and not in use on foreign aircraft carriers.

America's Death Rate Tumbles Five Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The death rate in the United States decreased in 1924, the census bureau announced today. The rate last year was 125 per 10,000, compared with 130 in 1923.

Daniel Gunn, who recently died at Marysport, Scotland, at the age of 84, boasted that as a baby he was rocked in the cradle once occupied by the infants of Robert Burns' wife.

Democratic Party Is Flayed as 'Useless'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The Democratic party was flayed as "useless" and its policies in Congress denounced as "ridiculous," in a farewell speech to the Senate by Senator Nathaniel B. Dial, Democrat, of South Carolina.

With biting invective, Dial charged his party had deteriorated "like sheep gone astray" by coalitions with "Bolshevism and communism." He praised President Coolidge as a "better Democrat" than his own colleagues, and paid high tribute to the president's leadership.

FANS AWAIT BIG RACE TOMORROW

Paavo Nurmi Makes U. S. Board Debut In Mile, 5000 Meter Run

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Not since the days of the Dorando-Johnny Hayes match races of happy memory, has New York become so excited as it has over the impending American debut of Paavo Nurmi, world's greatest runner, at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Nurmi will start in a special mile and a 5000 meter run at the Finnish-American A. C. games and his appearance will mark a revival in track and field athletics such as followed the 1908 Olympics at London where Dorando was carried across the line in the marathon and Hayes, finishing second, subsequently declared the winner.

That incident made for arch rivalry and the present instance has much in common with it. After being beaten four times by Nurmi at Paris, the American runner who would not give his windpipe for a victory over the Finn, is an American runner without the ambition of a second foot man. Joie Ray, Lloyd Hahn, Walter Higgins and Jimmy Connolly are some of the entries who will essay to take issue with Nurmi over the mile distance.

Picks Nurmi to Win

Evidences of bad blood between Nurmi and Willie Ritola, Americanized fellow countryman, also has had its popular appeal.

They will meet tomorrow night at 5000 meters, and Nurmi, unfamiliar with board floor running and having finished a hard mile earlier, will be at something of a disadvantage.

But he is a better runner than Ritola the best day the latter ever knew and the writer, for one, entertains but slight doubt of Nurmi's ultimate victory.

Automobile Catches Fire on Canyon Road

An automobile owned by George D. Marcy of 926 South Adams street took fire at 7:25 o'clock last night, near the corner of Wilson avenue and Sycamore Canyon road. The Glendale fire department was called and the blaze was extinguished by the use of chemicals. The damage was slight, reports Captain Ralph Dodsworth of Station No. 1, who was in charge.

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—So Tommy Gibbons will go to London to fight Luis Firpo, will he! Bunk! Tommy went to England to fight Jack Bloomfield and did not make a whole lot more money than he made at Shelby when he met Jack Dempsey.

In fact he did not make as much in England as he did in Montana for the reason that he received his training expenses and took in a fair bunch of money for admission to his training camp at Shelby.

The English trip, in short, was such a bust that the only way you could get Eddie Kane and his meal ticket, Gibbons, to fight in England again would be to hypnotize the two of them.

Yet Gibbons says he is willing. Put that down to advertising. It's a poor fighter who won't rise to a chance to get his name in the public prints, especially when he has no bout on and is out of the limelight.

Turkeys will be growing dorsal fins when Gibbons goes to England to do battle. Jack Renault might be lured over to the other side. He is more modest in his demands than Gibbons and since he is a Canadian he might prove to be a drawing card. Incidentally, so far as Firpo is concerned, it might be recalled that the writer called the turn on his European trip the day he started. His scheme is to build up lost prestige.

THREE HORSEMEN REPORTED BETTER

Stuhldreher Is Still Walking On Crutches; Crowley To Continue Trip

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—The three members of Notre Dame's famous football team injured in the New Year's game with Stanford at Pasadena were reported much improved today.

Jim Crowley, one of the hard riding "Horsemen" who helped trounce Stanford 27 to 10, and who was removed to the St. Francis hospital yesterday suffering from a general collapse as a result of the hard battle, was said to be feeling much better today and fully capable of continuing the trip home with his team mates. The squad is scheduled to leave here this morning.

Harry Stuhldreher, the all-American quarterback, who sustained a broken ankle in the Stanford game, is still on crutches but is rapidly improving, it was learned. Cerney, the big fullback, and Bach, the tackle, were still wearing bandages to protect a couple of ribs broken in the New Year's contest.

Air transportation in Europe is favored because aeroplane passengers do not have the expense and bother of passport formalities.

Written for The Evening News.

The year in track and field athletics was a notable one, primarily because of the quadrennial Olympic games.

These games once more ended in glory for America and its athletes. Critics, however, were made to realize one thing. That is that, unless Uncle Sam's stawlart sons lay more stress and attention on running, the Red, White and Blue may find its prestige greatly cut at the next international classic. Finland and England produced dash, and middle distance and marathon runners who showed twinkling heels to the American runners, with the exception of Jackson Scholz, who won the 200-meter dash, and the members of the 400-meter relay team, which triumphed in a close race.

The outstanding star of the games was Paavo Nurmi, Finnish runner, who won the 1500-meter run, the 5000-meter run, the 10,000-meter cross-country run and then led his countrymen to victory in the 3000-meter team race.

Willie Ritola, born in Finland and now an adopted son of Uncle Sam, was Nurmi's rival for honors. Running for his native land, Ritola won the 10,000-meter run and the 3000-meter steeplechase.

Here is the list of champions crowned in the games.

10,000-Meter Run—W. Ritola, Finland. Time, 30:23 1-5 (world record).

Javelin Throw—J. Myrra, Finland. Distance, 207 feet.

100-Meter Dash—H. Abrahams, Great Britain. Time, 0:10 3-5 (equals Olympic record).

400-Meter Hurdles—F. M. Taylor, United States. Time, 0:52 3-5 (world record).

High Jump—H. M. Osborne, United States. Height, 6 feet 6 inches (Olympic record).

Pentathlon—Lehtonen, Finland, 16 points. (R. Le Gendre, United States, set world record of 25 feet 6 inches for broad jump in this event.)

800-Meter Run—D. G. A. Lowe, Great Britain. Time, 1:52 2-5.

Broad Jump—D. Hubbard, United States. Distance, 24 feet 6 inches.

Shot-put — C. Houser, United States. Distance, 49 feet 2½ inches.

110-Meter Hurdles—D. Kinsey, United States. Time, 0:15.

200-Meter Dash — J. Scholz, United States. Time, 0:21 3-5 (equals Olympic record).

3000-Meter Steeplechase — W. Ritola, Finland. Time 9:33 3-5 (world record).

1500-Meter Run — P. Nurmi, Finland. Time 3:53 3-5 (Olympic record).

5000-Meter Run — P. Nurmi, Finland. Time 14:31 1-5 (Olympic record).

Hammer Throw—F. D. Tootell, United States. Distance, 174 feet.

Pole Vault—L. Barnes, United States. Height, 12 feet 11½ inches.

400-Meter Run—E. H. Liddell, Great Britain. Time, 0:47 3-5 (world record).

10,000-Meter Cross Country Run—Individual, P. Nurmi, Finland team: Finland. Time, 32:54 3-5.

Hop, Step and Jump—Winner, Australia. Distance, 50 feet 11⅛ inches (world record).

Decathlon — H. M. Osborne, United States. 7,710,775 points (world record).

400-Meter Relay — United States. Time, 0:41 (world record).

Discus Throw—Clarence Houser, United States. Distance, 46 meters 50 centimeters (Olympic record).

1600-Meter Relay — United States. Time, 3:16 (world record).

3000-Meter Team Race—Individual. P. Nurmi, Finland team: Finland. Time, 8:32 (Olympic record).

10,000 Meter Walk—Frigerio, Italy. Time 47:49.

Marathon — Stenroos, Finland. Time, 2:42:22 3-5.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—From Reno, Nevada, Walter Johnson sends wishes for a Happy New Year to the baseball fans of the United States, who appear to have been busily mailing him congratulations ever since the world series.

In a letter just received from the veteran pitcher, the writer is asked to pass along Johnson's appreciation and best wishes to those he has not yet been able to answer directly. Johnson has been doing his best to catch up with his mail, but finally has been compelled to take a rest to recuperate. He finds answering all the letters almost as hard a task as it was to play his part in defeating the Giants.

Johnson will not be permitted to leave the Washington club and purchase a franchise outside the Pacific Coast league, and all rumors to the contrary are based upon the desire of some one to acquire publicity as a possible partner of the Washington idol.

Were Johnson to go into a minor league east of the Mississippi he might not come directly into contact with the major league clubs as a rival attraction, but he would be dangerously near it, especially if he were in either the American association or the International league. The territory of the American association is very closely interwoven with that of the western territory of both major leagues, and while the patronage of the American association cities does not drift heavily into major league cities, there is a marked dividing line on Sunday games in some sections because the excursions in the middle west go to baseball cities like Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Johnson almost surely will be back with Washington pitching for more money than he did last year. Financially he would be the gainer by going to Washington right now, because his minor league venture might require a lot of nursing before it returned interest on his investment, while the present Washington proposition is interest in the hand of his own big frame. And there is no reason why he should not have another good year in the American league unless something develops to weaken his arm, as was the case, temporarily, three or four years back.

The Pacific coast men outside of Oakland, where Johnson once thought of buying, figure that if he had taken up the team and had been able to play one round through the circuit, the first trip of his team would have been the most successful financially that an Oakland club ever had.

"It would have been more than capacity crowds," said President Graham of the San Francisco club. "Every one of our cities would have had an attendance the first day that would have been a record breaker. In San Francisco, for instance, I am positive that with good weather only the standing room capacity of our grounds would have limited the crowds."

Johnson has been hunting up in the mountains since he returned to Reno, where he finds the climate good for a baseball player who is taking his leisure after working hard on the field all season. He makes a long trip to go from Reno to the Washington training camp at Tampa, Florida, but he finds that he can shift climates all right, and he does not mind the trip.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—It took a post season game to point with strong and devastating emphasis to the fact that even in this era of safeguarded forward passing the overhead toss is still attended by the gravest sort of danger. And the costliness of fumbling the ball was demonstrated no less significantly than at various times in the course of last year's football season.

The reference is to the Notre Dame-Stanford game at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena on New Year's Day which as almost everyone now knows was won by the South Bend outfit 27 to 10.

Two of Notre Dame's touchdowns came when Elmer Layden, the elusive, hard running fullback of the South Bend outfit, pulled two of Nevers' passes out of the air and sprinted seventy and eighty-five yards over the Cardinal goal line. Here were boomerangs, indeed, and indicated very sharply that the Notre Dame scheme of short passing—that, indeed, the whole scheme of short passing—while not so productive of immediate scores as the long pass is infinitely less dangerous.

Thus thirteen of Notre Dame's twenty-seven points were made by long runs following intercepted aerial throws while another touchdown was made when the fleet-footed Huntsinger picked up the ball after Solomon had fumbled one of Layden's punts and dusted over the Stanford goal. Twenty points out of the twenty-seven, therefore, came as the result of what are commonly known as "breaks."

Stanford's ten points were earned beyond question or cavil. The first score came in the first quarter after a remarkable advance by rushing when Cuddeback kicked a field goal from the 17 yard line. The other score, a touchdown, was the result of a forward pass over the goal line.

Generally speaking the Stanford line outplayed Notre Dame, but the margin of superiority was not sufficiently great to offset the extraordinary work of the South Bend backfield. The "Four Horsemen" lived up to all that has been said and written about them, in fact lived up to record they had made in the 1924 football season.

The great rushing strength of Nevers and the assistance he received from the forwards in the middle of the Stanford line were responsible for a great majority of Stanford's rushing games. Had flesh and blood been able to stand the great strain Nevers alone might have beaten the opposing outfit. As it was, after remarkable advances, the Indiana team was usually able to check him when the secondary defense began to draw up too close to the beleaguered forwards.

Layden's excellent punting was a prime factor in keeping Stanford at bay and all in all, taking the game in all its departments Notre Dame must be regarded as the superior outfit despite the fact that so many of her touchdowns came from breaks. Breaks are a part of the game of football and always will be and the team prepared to take advantage of them is the team that is going to win.

Against Pennsylvania California scored as many touchdowns as had been marked up against the Quakers in the entire football season of 1924. In the third period Penn., by a series of line smashes, carried the ball to within a foot of the Bears' goal line.

PLAN BASKETBALL CITY TOURNAMENT

Schedule to Be Arranged by Coach Hayhurst This Week; Invite Teams

The schedule for a City league basketball tournament will be arranged some time this week, is the announcement of Coach Normal C. Hayhurst, who will have charge of the tournament to be staged by the night school of the Glendale Union High school. The tournament is open to all city basketball teams and managers are asked to get in touch with instructors at the night school in order that the complete schedule can be easily arranged.

Six teams are already scheduled for competition in the tournament. Present plans call for a cup or pennant to be presented to the winning team. All games will be played in the gymnasium at the Harvard High school.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

We haven't heard from experts who usually spill a lot of words about ten best photo-drama of year. The suspense is too much. We'll have to kick off. We haven't kept a diary of best ones, but it wouldn't have been a hard job nor would it have required much stationery. It's easier to pick 'ten best' than ten good ones. Here's our choice coming under head of indoor sports: 'Covered Wagon,' if you like wagons; 'Ten Commandments,' if you like Cecil De Mille's idea of pictorial religion; Lillian Gish's 'White Sister,' about as near an approach to art in pictures as has been made; Chaplin's 'Woman of Paris' (or was that 1923), which knocked all those wagons Jimme Cruze sent across the desert skyhigh for directorial achievement and nice sublety. There's four of 'em.

Joseph L. Kelley

The German director, Lubitsch's 'The Marriage Circle' and John Barrymore in 'Beau Brummel,' the directorial work of Harry Beaumont, the only two worthwhile pictures Warner Brothers with all their picturesque Colonial Hollywood studios, ever turned out. That makes six of 'em.

We'll get murdered if we don't include Doug Fairbanks' 'Thief of Bagdad'. The 'Thief' was a good picture for same reason P. T. Barnum had a good circus—spectacular drawing power. There's seven of 'em.

Gloria Swanson's 'Zaza,' directed by Alan Dwan had a lot of photodramatic 'guts,' thanks to Glorious Gloria and directorial work of Dwan, one of the few really intelligent men wielding a megaphone in the studios. That's eight of 'em.

Herbert Brenon another director with brains (and knows how to use 'em) held the reins over the great Polish 'find,' Pola Negri, in 'The Spanish Dancer' and made one of the most expensive as well as one of the most entertaining pictures Pola ever did and that includes her 'Passion,' Americanized name for German version of French play 'Du Barry' which Lubitsch did in Germany and on strength of which Pola got her contract with Famous Players-Lasky and a fat salary written in. That's nine of 'em.

Did you know that Pola's 'Spanish Dancer' was adapted from the same French play serving Mary Pickford for her Rosita'? Lubitsch 'shot' 'Rosita.'

We kept Karl Laemmle's version of Victor Hugo's 'Hunchback of Notre Dame' for last place for no reason at all other than we thought of it last. We're writing these down as they come to us. The average picture is the 'air castle' of far too immature minds to take them seriously enough to keep books over them. Hugo's 'Hunchback' is number ten. There's your ten. Juggle 'em.

Two directors had their fingers in the 'Hunchback' direction—Eric Von Stroheim who spent so much of Karl Laemmle's money in initial production that even Karl put up a holler and Karl is one of best losers in industry. Eric started the 'Hunchback.' Rupert Julian finished it. Rupert is megaphone wielder now putting finishing touches on another promised spectacle from French revolutionary days, 'Phantom of the Opera.'

The 'Hunchback' cost Laemmle a lot of shekels. Lon Chaney for impersonating the 'Hunchback' received something like $2500 a week over a period of a lot of weeks. Von Stroheim spent that much a week getting ready to do something over a lot of weeks.

The same kind of a jam resulted in production of 'Hunchback' as occurred lately over in Rome in production of 'Ben Hur.' Both these pictures cost well over or near a million smackers, well over in case of 'Ben Hur.' 'Hunchback' gave fans one of finest bits of character acting from Lon Chaney ever seen on screen.

Now for Herbert Brenon who took charge of Pola when she was slipping and made a real picture in 'The Spanish Dancer.' Herbert can spend a lot of money too in production but he always gets results. Fans old enough to remember turn back to long ago between 1910 and '14. You'll remember Herbert Brenon as the 'hunchback' in support of Theda Bara, the original 'vamp' in Fox's production of 'The Two Orphans.'

A little bit later you'll remember screen version inspired by Kipling's 'A Fool There Was.' Recall Edward Jose's work as 'The Fool'? Greatest piece of character acting ever flashed on a gold fibre, speaking of best in movies and barring none. Jose now is directing in France. Theda Bara was 'a rag, a bone and a hank of hair.'

Brenon did the first big spectacle ever attempted in way of sea picture when he directed Annette Kellerman, of one-piece bathing suit fame, in 'Venus of the Sea' or some such mermaid suggestive title. Brenon also 'shot' Rasputin, the Mad Monk,' in which the 'Mad Monk' himself was starred. 'The Mad Monk' was religious adviser to late Czar of Russia. Whenever Famous Players-Lasky sees one of their stars slipping it's pretty good bet Herbert Brenon will be called upon to take up the megaphone.

For a distinct departure in photographic theme and for following the trend of flapperism, Colleen Moore's 'Flaming Youth' should be squeezed into those 'ten best.' So should Corinne Griffith's 'Black Oxen,' directed by Frank Lloyd who did the 'Sea Hawk,' another picture that should be contained among those 'ten best.'

For the outstanding performance before the camera we would toss a penny between Ernest Torrence as the 'Forty-Niner' in 'Covered Wagon' and Jack Barrymore in the title role of 'Beau Brummel.'

Norma Talmadge is so consistently good that she should be given blue ribbon as leader of feminine contingent. Sister Constance leads comediennes by a big margin; Colleen Moore, the flappers and (here's where we're going to hear a roar from the fans) Gloria Swanson, the 'vamps.' If you don't believe Gloria can crowd 'em all off both ends of equator see her in 'Wages of Sin' or 'Virtue' or something like that, her latest picture wherein she vamps Ben Lyons all over Foreign Legion domains.

If 'Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" had been produced last year we would give that the title of worst picture without hesitation. But since that's relegated to ash cans we reserve decision. Nothing could be worse than that was.

Tangier, Spanish Morocco, will spend $4,400,000 on its harbor.

Don't think property is not selling—Good buys are being picked up every day by buyers who realize now is your last opportunity for such bargains. We have been selling property every month since coming to Glendale, and some months this last year we have sold from fifty to one hundred thousand dollars' worth of property per month. It is our intention at all times to have very attractive buys for you to choose from. When you are thinking of buying or selling—Think of us—and then see or call us. Cars at your service at all times.

OUR TODAY'S SPECIALS
CLOSE-IN HOMES

SIX ROOMS AND GARAGE—The "well-built-kind" built a few years ago, and lots of good material used. Has living, dining and den rooms with oak floors. Real fireplaces in living room and den—many built-in features, disappearing bed in den, two bedrooms, convenient kitchen, plenty of closet room, furnace that heats all rooms, fine lawn and back yard. Garage with driveway. Location will interest you—North Maryland Ave., between the wash and Doran St. Lot is 50x125, east front, and lot backs up to Brand Blvd. lot ONLY $8000. The owner has placed this property in our hands for exclusive sale, and at a price that it will sell at once, and might say that the lot alone is worth most the price asked.

6 ROOMS—FURNISHED—This home is about four blocks from intersection of Brand & Bdwy. Has three bedrooms, nice fireplace, built in buffet, etc. The furniture is less than one year old—in living room has overstuffed set that alone cost over $500, and Wilton rug, floor lamp, etc.—two-tone walnut dining set, Wilton rug in dining room,—in the three bedrooms are two ivory beds with best of springs and good mattresses, also one walnut bed, ivory dresser, vanity, chiffonier, 2 rockers and two chairs, walnut chiffonette and three rugs. Kitchen has table and four chairs and good gas range with automatic regulator. The house is complete, and all you will need is your linens, silverware and dishes. The price is $8500; you really get the furniture free.

4 ROOMS & GARAGE—On rear of lot so that you can build a duplex or residence on the front. Lot alone worth from $3500 to $4500. Total price is $5750.

A HOME IN THE KENNETH ROAD DISTRICT

6 ROOMS—Very large living room with large fine fireplace, dining room and living rooms finished in genuine mahogany. Den and two bedrooms and den can also be used as a bedroom. Bath with pedestal lavatory and tile, etc. Kitchen with tile, basement with furnace, double garage with laundry trays. This home is of English type architecture, composition shingle roof, built by owner for a home and not intended for sale. We cannot give a description here which would justify. Lot is 60x160. Price reduced from $12,500 to $10,500. Owner will give attractive terms as property is now clear.

All the above homes are occupied by the owners, who are obliged to return to the east without delay, and real sacrifices have been made to make this property sell at once. Do not hesitate but call on us today.

ORDINANCE NO. 1030

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING ORDINANCE NO. 529, PASSED JANUARY 12, 1922, AND ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE ESTABLISHING A RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT, AN INDUSTRIAL DISTRICT, AND FOUR COMMERCIAL DISTRICTS IN SAID CITY; REGULATING AND RESTRICTING THE LOCATION AND LOCATIONS OF AND THE MAINTENANCE AND CARRYING ON OF INDUSTRIES, TRADES AND BUSINESSES IN SAID CITY; PROVIDING FOR A 'RESIDENTIAL, INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL DISTRICT MAP' OF SAID CITY; PRESCRIBING THE PENALTY FOR THE VIOLATION HEREOF; AND REPEALING CERTAIN ORDINANCES," BY ADDING THERETO A NEW SECTION TO BE NUMBERED SECTION 4aa29.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

SECTION 1: That Ordinance No. 529 of the City of Glendale, passed January 12, 1922, and entitled, "An Ordinance of the City of Glendale Establishing a Residential District, an Industrial District, and Four Commercial Districts in said City; Regulating and Restricting the Location and Locations of and the Maintenance and Carrying on of Industries, Trades and Businesses in said City; Providing for a 'Residential, Industrial and Commercial District Map' of said City; Prescribing the Penalty for the Violation Hereof; and Repealing Certain Ordinances," is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered Section 4aa29 and to read as follows:

SECTION 4aa29: A Commercial District to be designated as Commercial District No. 83 is hereby created and established, which shall include all that part of the City of Glendale described as follows:

All of Lots 1 to 13, both inclusive, of Tract No. 7435, as per map accepted by the Council of the City of Glendale on the 2d day of December, 1924.

Said Commercial District is hereby excluded from the Residential District and shall be subject to the same regulations and provisions in all respects as are set forth in this Ordinance No. 529 for Commercial Districts.

SECTION 2: The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this ordinance and shall cause the same to be published once in the Glendale Evening News, the official newspaper of said City, and it shall take effect and be in force on the thirtieth day after its passage.

Passed by the Council of the City of Glendale on this 2nd day of January, 1925.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Again at Sacramento, again listening to the desires of all California as expressed by duly elected representatives in legislative session!

There are many things to report—in the news columns—and for diversion comment will be a collection of observations from a motor trip through the fertile San Joaquin valley.

Fresno, Stockton and Sacramento—each city half again as large as Glendale—failed to top "the fastest growing city in America" in their 1924 building campaigns.

Roughly speaking, Sacramento did more than $7,000,000; Stockton more than $4,000,000, and Fresno less than $2,000,000, whereas Glendale did more than $10,000,000.

However, these northern cities have been growing for the last half century and Sacramento building trades are active with more than $13,000,000 in sight next year.

Glendale should be able to make that goal or a little better.

Modesto is a city having prosperity at the expense of its sister communities, perhaps. In other years when irrigation was done by pump the Modesto ranchers lost money. With a drought, also aided by high prices, and power from the northern part of the state where rivers never go dry, the Modesto district profited highly and this is reflected in new buildings, heavy retail sales and lively bank clearings.

San Francisco, also, is pleasantly reaping the rewards of a rapidly developing California. Industrially Oakland is stepping to the front and outside capital has been invested in that city as never before. Oakland is in the first stages of a real estate boom which should carry it far in both values and increased territory.

From an editorial viewpoint it is rather amusing to see the San Francisco Chronicle—not the Examiner—using International News Service dispatches on its front page every morning to augment the Chicago Tribune, Los Angeles Times and Associated Press leased wires.

It clearly shows the high regard a publisher like M. H. DeYoung places on the quality, speed and accuracy of International News Service which customarily serves afternoon newspapers like The Glendale Evening News, John D. Spreckel's San Diego Tribune, the Los Angeles Herald and other leading publications.

In Alameda county, with Oakland as its seat of government, they are seriously considering the county manager form of government to give a business administration to affairs. Herbert Quick in the current issue of the Country Gentleman, refers to Alameda county as a pioneer in this practical move.

Government, like styles in women's wear, is changeable and fads develop. States adopted commissions, cities installed managers and now the counties are relegating their district supervisorial government to the ash can, it would appear.

Mr. Quick says some pertinent things in stronger language than the writer would essay to publish. If you are interested in the high cost of taxes read his article in the Country Gentleman of January 3.

Administration Forces See Speaker's Victory

trated brochures have been distributed this week to all members of the legislature. Los Angeles representatives express the opinion, however, that the university should be located closer to the metropolis in order that students working their way through school would have better opportunity and enabling a preponderance of young people to live at home while completing their courses.

Look to Treasury

Money for he completion of the state office building in Sacramento, an appropriation to settle the state's share of expenses in eradicating the hoof and mouth disease, more money for the upbuilding of either the present or new penal and corrective institutions and a method of financing new highway construction are paramount fiscal issues.

Senator Lewis of Los Angeles, who states he has thirty bills already in course of preparation, again is calling for a state office building in Los Angeles on a site to be donated by the city in its civic center plan which will give the governor an opportunity to approve or veto an item of $2,500,000. The same senator will seek a prison for the south, which no community has expressed a desire, and it has been suggested that one of the Santa Barbara islands, or San Clemente, would provide an ideal resort for the criminal class.

Opposes Program

Diametrically opposed to such ambitious programs as the foregoing Senator Ralph Swing of San Bernardino declares he is here to stifle new legislation and particularly the needless introduction of bills which last year cost the state a mere matter of $75,000, he says. A general demand for fewer laws, and better laws, is apparent in the attitude of most of the members.

San Francisco's board of supervisors has established civic headquarters at Hotel Senator and a delegation of women from the bay district are present to urge the early adoption of a resolution ratifying the child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

Facing the capitol and overlooking the park surrounding it, Hotel Senator, completed last year, today is the center of the political lobby. The same old gang, in a new frame, as it were, gather together for furthering their plans, but there is something lacking this year in the esprit de corps. Samuel Rutter, in charge of prohibition enforcement inspection, dropped into town Sunday and couldn't find a drink. In other words, it is dry although the weather is moist from fog.

Mrs. Forrest Jones Has Guests on New Year's

Guests of Mrs. Forrest Jones of 700 South Verdugo road over New Year's were Mrs. Mercedes Call and daughter Emma of Fort Ross, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kay and daughter Viva and son George of San Mateo. The party motored from San Francisco to attend the Stanford-Notre Dame football game at Pasadena on New Year's day. In company with Mrs. Jones and some friends from Santa Monica, they motored to San Diego, El Centro and Mexicali, where they spent Friday and Saturday.

Betting is so prevalent in Scotland that one firm employs a staff of sixty bookmakers and handles $1,500,000 in wagers in a year.

FINE SHOWING IS MADE BY CHURCH

Grand View Community Has 8 States Represented In Membership

Eight states in the Union, California, Oregon, Washington, New Mexico, Colorado, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio; two foreign countries, England and Canada; and fifteen cities, Glendale, Burbank, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Long Beach, Arcadia and Watts, California; Seattle, Washington; Portland and Ashland, Oregon; Las Vegas, New Mexico; Fort Morgan, Colorado; Middletown, Indiana; Napoleon, Ohio; Kalamazoo, Michigan; Toronto, Canada, and Paddington, England, were represented in the church letters brought together into the charter membership of the Grand View Community Presbyterian church yesterday morning. There were forty-two letters in. California leads with 22, and Glendale leads the list of cities with 11, but it is a remarkable fact that only twelve letters were taken from all the Glendale and Burbank churches. The rest were all gathered from outside their membership and congregations.

Eight denominations are represented in this new church: Presbyterians lead with 39; Methodist next with 12; United Presbyterians 4; Congregationalists 4; Christians 4; Lutherans 4; Bible Christians 2; Baptist 1.

Twenty-eight were received on profession of faith or reprofession, and there were nine baptisms on profession with five baptisms of children, one infant, Amos Benjamin Cowfer receiving baptism during the service. Seventy people were received in all, and the charter membership will be held open until after next Sunday.

Five Elders Elected

Five elders were elected to serve until the annual meeting in April, of whom four, David Black, Dr. J. W. Crigler, J. W. Stauffacher and Emmanuel Davis, have been for years Presbyterian elders. The fifth, Alpheus Moody, teacher of the adult Bible class, counts himself a Baptist, although he came by letter from the Verdugo Hills Community M. E. church. Several entire families were received into the church.

Dr. William S. Young, who preached the sermon, was the first pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church, coming to it when it had been organized only three months and had eleven members. Elder David Black brought to the service a gavel made of the wood from the first communion table of that old church, a replica of the one presented last summer to the Synod of California when it met in the new church of Glendale.

At the service both morning and evening was Mr. Ray, retired Sabbath school missionary of the Presbyterian church, who organized in Glendale, Burbank and Lankershim the Sunday schools out of which three fine churches have grown. Rev. C. R. McMillin, Sabbath school missionary for Southern California, who organied the Grand View school, was present.

First Anniversary

On the first anniversary of its organization the founders, Dr. J. W. Crigler, Elder and Mrs. David Black and Miss Esther B. Black, together with Rev. Mr. McMillin, were present. Outstanding features were the large number of profession of faith, baptism and proficiency shown by the children.

Prayer meeting will be resumed this week at the home of Mrs. Emma Dyer, 1169 Ruberta, studying personal work. Friday afternoon at 3:30 the women of the church and congregation are invited to the Black home, 250 Kenneth road, to meet Mrs. Clelland of the Presbyterial Missionary society, and Dr. and Mrs. Wandless, missionaries from India, and organize the Missionary society. Automobiles will leave Grand View at 3:15 p. m.

At 6:30 p. m. there will be a fellowship supper at the Black home for the church members and their families. Next Sunday morning, at the close of the service, a congregational meeting will be held for the purpose of considering calling a regularly installed pastor.

Membership

The membership of the new church follows, profession or reprofession: William Benson, Julia Benson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Felton, Jack Felton, Donald Green, Frances Green; Jean Hansen, J. Hofstetter, Mrs. J. P. Lant, Mrs. Marion Mair, Miss Marion Mair, Henrietta Moody, Alpheus Moody, jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Maguire, William Maguire, Oewald Morgan, Virginia Ogle, Vernon Ogle, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rochin, Ruth Rochin, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Zitlow, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. White, Ernest White. By letter: First Presbyterian church, Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. David Black, Miss Esther Black, Dr. J. W. Crigler, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cheeseman, J. W. Stauffacher. First M. E., Glendale: Mrs. Sarah Moyer; First Christian, Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones; Verdugo M. E., Glendale, Mrs. Myrtle Buckman, Dorothy Buckman, Harold Buckman; First M. E., Glendale, Mrs. J. W. Stauffacher; First Presbyterian, Burbank, Mrs. Emma Dyer; First Presbyterian, Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Davis; First Presbyterian, Hollywood, Mrs. Carrie Hardcastle; Community Presbyterian, Arcadia, Mrs. Margaret W. Thomas; Verdugo M. E. Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Moody; First M. E., Watts, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Ogle; First Presbyterian, Las Vegas, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Book, Miss Hazel Book, Edw. Book, L. B. Book; First Presbyterian, Ashland, Oregon, Mrs. L. R. Book; First Congregational, Portland, Oregon, Miss Leola Martin; First Presbyterian, Seattle, Washington, G. R. Miller; First United Presbyterian, Seattle, Wash., Mrs. G. R. Miller; First United Presbyterian, Fort Morgan, Colo., Mrs. Esther Hofstetter, Misses Ruth and Irene Hofstetter and Harold Hofstetter; First Presbyterian, Kalamazoo, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Martin; First Presbyterian, Napoleon, Ohio, Mrs. J. A. Deery; First Christian, Middletown, Indiana, Miss Alice Christman; St. David's Presbyterian, Toronto, Canada, Mrs. Charles Morgan; Congregational Chapel, Paddington, England, Mrs. John Whiting.

Another Meeting Called To Protest Assessment

Discussion of the proposed injunction against the alleged unjust assessment for Sycamore Canyon Road will be heard on Wednesday night at the meeting of the Southeast Glendale Improvement association at Glendale Intermediate school, South Glendale avenue, between Acacia and Park avenues. Other business will be election of officers and business matters. The president of the association, James C. Leitch, has announced to members:

"If you pay the assessment, do so under protest and obtain a receipt, in order that you may secure a full return."

DEATHS - FUNERALS

J. J. ROWE

Friends of Mrs. Harry V. Ellis of 705 East Chestnut street, will be sorry to learn that her father, J. J. Rowe, died Saturday night, January 3, 1925, at his home in Santa Monica, after a short illness. Funeral services are to be held Wednesday.

FRANK J. LYNN

Frank J. Lynn died Saturday, January 3, 1925, at his home in Redlands. He is survived by his wife, Ada S. Lynn, and three sons, Laurence, Leslie and Leroy Lynn. Funeral services will be held at the undertaking parlors of W. A. Brown, 1335 South Flower street, Los Angeles, at 1 o'clock Tuesday. Interment will be made in Inglewood Park.

ONETA A. BAILY

Miss Oneta E. Baily died Sunday, January 4, 1925, at her home, 3917 Revere street. She was born October 12, 1900, in Ohio, and had resided in California four years. Surviving her are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Baily. Funeral services will be announced by L. G. Scovern.

MRS. SARAH J. PITTS

Mrs. Sarah J. Pitts, wife of the late Jacob F. Pitts, and at one time a resident of South Adams street, died Sunday, January 4, 1925, at a Los Angeles hospital. She was born December 20, 1866, in Platt County, Mo. She had lived in California two years. She leaves a sister, Mrs. William Hooper of Los Angeles, and a brother, J. E. Olvis of Hollywood. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, in the chapel in Hollywood cemetery.

Workmen Give Evening News Praise For Aid

The Glendale Evening News received many compliments Saturday night at the meeting of the local Ancient Order of United Workmen in the Legion hall. Mrs. Mary R. Morrow, district manager, read publicity given the local legion by The News and then stated that much of her success was due to the support received from The News. Visitors from San Bernardino, Ontario, Whittier, Owensmouth and Los Angeles, listened with interest. H. C. McMasters, district manager of San Bernardino, asked for The News clippings that he might take them to his home lodge for exhibition.

Radical Changes Made For Income Taxpayers

duced taxes on "earned income," which did not appear in previous laws. All net income up to $5000 is deemed to be earned income. On this account the taxpayer is entitled to a credit of 25 per cent of the amount of the tax. For example, a taxpayer, unmarried and with no dependents whose net income for 1925 is $5000 would pay without this reduction a tax of $80. His actual tax is $60. From his net income of $5000 he is allowed a personal exemption of $1000, the tax of 2 per cent on the $4000 of taxable income is $80, one-fourth of which, or $20, may be deducted. In no case is the earned net income considered to be in excess of $10,000. A taxpayer, who receives a salary of $20,000 for example, can claim only $10,000 as "earned net income."

In the case of a married man with no dependents whose earned net income is $7000 and who has other income of $1500, a total of $8500, the tax, without the benefit of the 25 per cent reduction would amount to $160—$8500 less a personal exemption of $2500 equalling $6000 on which the tax on the first $4000 at 2 per cent amounts to $80, and on the next $2000 at 4 per cent to $80. On the earned net income the tax amounts to $100—$7000 less the exemption of $2500 equalling $4500 on which the tax on the first $4000 at 2 per cent amounts to $80 and on the remaining $500 at 4 per cent to $20. One-fourth of the tax on earned net income, or $25, can be deducted from $160, leaving $135 as the total tax payable.

Net Incomes

On a net income of $12,000, derived by a taxpayer, unmarried, and with no dependents, entirely from securities, the tax, considering the first $5000 to be earned, amounts to $420. Computed without the benefit of the deduction, it would amount to $440.

Earned income is defined as "wages, salaries, professional fees, and other compensation for personal services actually rendered," but does not include that part of the compensation derived by the taxpayer for personal services rendered by him to a corporation which represents a distribution of earnings or profits rather than a reasonable allowance as compensation for personal services actually ren red. In the case of a taxpayer engaged in a trade or business in which both personal services and capital are material income-producing factors, a reasonable allowance as compensation for personal services actually rendered by the taxpayer, not in excess of 20 per cent of his share of the net profits of such trade or business, shall be considered as earned income, provided, that this allowance does not exceed 25 per cent of the tax computed in the ordinary manner. The limitation is applicable in cases where there is a loss, and the earned net income is greater than the taxable net income.

Six Men Arraigned on Liquor Charge Today

Six men arrested in a raid last Wednesday night on the Glendale Tavern, 1120 South San Fernando road, appeared this morning before Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court. A seventh, Isadore Schwartz, forfeited $100 bail by choosing not to be present.

Of the six men who appeared, J. M. Phillips was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 for having intoxicants in his possession; N. J. Murphy, said to be the manager of the tavern, paid a fine of $50; R. K. Barker and L. W. Beiter paid $50 fines; and S. Spitz and S. Bragg, who entered pleas of not guilty, had their preliminary hearings set for 10 o'clock Monday morning, January 12.
